Irish Release Corrigan's 'Crate'

LICENSE IS SUSPENDED

DUBLIN, July 19.—(UP)—Douglas Corrigan's $900 "crate", the least expensive craft that ever was flown across the Atlantic, was returned to him today by Irish customs authorities, who had detained it for several hours.

The plane was formally returned to Corrigan's possession at Baldonnel airport, where the 31-year-old Los Angeles flier landed yesterday on his "accidental" flight from New York.

Slightly irregular Customs authorities had detained the plane because Corrigan's status was slightly irregular. He had blithely flown here without a passport and without fulfilling any of the other formalities that international travelers, and especially transatlantic aviators are supposed to adhere to.

It was understood, however, the Irish government had decided to take no action against Corrigan, although the U. S. government had ordered his flying license suspended for 30 to 60 days—and instructed the customs men to return his plane to him.

Plans Return U. S. Minister John Cudahy was with Corrigan at the airport when the formal return was made. It was believed that Corrigan would remain here about a week while the plane is dismantled for shipment back to the United States. Despite hints that Corrigan might have some other aerial adventure in mind, it was believed that he would return to the United States on the same ship on which the plane is shipped.

Watches Don Budge Corrigan was asked if he had been notified of the suspension of his American pilot's license. He laughed and said "That's the first I have heard of it."

He went to the Fitz William Lawn Tennis Club in the afternoon to watch Donald Pidge, a fellow Californian, play an exhibition match.

Before his plane was released, he had asserted that he would like to fly to London while he is over here. Won't Fly Home Corrigan said definitely that he would not try to fly back to New York but would take his plane back by steamship.

He said he would make no plans until he had seen government officials.

An official of the Irish department of industry and commerce, asked whether any government action would be taken against Corrigan, said that none had been planned and added:

"After all, it was a very creditable feat and this is not the time to discuss things like that."

Ready To Go Corrigan himself was all ready to go. First he wants to fly to London, then to Glasgow, Scotland, to put his plane on view at the British Empire Exhibition.

Hundreds gathered outside the American legation for a look at Corrigan. He was in good form. He mounted a jaunty car, the famous Irish equivalent for a horse cab, to pose for photographers.

John Cudahy, American minister and Corrigan's host, arranged to get him a new outfit of clothes. Corrigan went to see government officials, after he had posed for photographers, to see whether he could get his plane released. He planned later today to go to Baldonnel field to inspect it.

Visits DeValera Visiting government buildings in the afternoon, Corrigan gave Prime Minister Eamon DeValera a first hand account of his flight. Officials had a shock when they learned that Corrigan, discussing

School Hit By Bombers

SHANGHAI, July 19.—(UP)—Students at the American Catholic girls school in Hankow narrowly escaped injury or death today in a devastating Japanese air raid.

Twenty-seven planes, operating in squadrons of nine each, dropped more than 150 bombs in one of the biggest raids of the war on the so-called Wuhan district, comprising the cities of Wuchang, Hanyang and Hankow.

Bomb Airfields The attacks were directed against airfields in the tri-city area and followed yesterday's on Nanchang which Japanese authorities claimed was "the most daring attack in the annals of war aviation."

Of the bombs showered on Hankow, the Chinese provisional capital from where the government was expected to move shortly, one struck the wall of the compound around the American Catholic girls school. Part of the wall was demolished and pieces of debris and fragments of shrapnel were scattered.

SUPERVISORS SUED FOR FLOOD DAMAGES

Charging that the county supervisors are personally and individually liable for damages occurring to private orchards from last March's overflow of the West Anaheim spreading basin, owners of two ranches in the path of the flood waters today filed suit in superior court asking an aggregate of $34,730 damages.

Jerome D. Wallace and Mary D. Wallace, owners of 13 acres, asked judgment for $22,680, for erosion of soil, loss of trees, deposit of sand and debris on their lands, and other damage. Arthur Hartelt and Marie C. Hartelt asked $12,050 for damage to their ten acre ranch.

Supervisors Sued Besides naming the county flood control district, and the county itself as defendants, the plaintiffs sued the supervisors as directors of the flood district, also individually. The supervisors said the complaint, having notice and knowledge that a dangerous and defective condition existed, having time in which to repair it, and also having the funds at their disposal for such purpose, failed to take the steps that would have averted the damage.

The plaintiffs also ask an injunction prohibiting reconstruction of the damaged levees, and compelling the district to remove any remaining levees, as a source of danger from impounded waters.

Attorneys Kaufman and Anderson, of Anaheim, and Adrain Marks, of Santa Ana, are counsel for the plaintiffs.

Early Californian Called By Death

Mrs. Manuel Yorba Pico, 35, of San Juan Capistrano, a native of California and descendant of the original Yorba family that settled in Orange county, died today at Santa Ana Valley hospital.

Mrs. Pico had been a resident of San Juan Capistrano nearly all of her life. She is survived by one son, Ramon Sanchez and one sister, Mrs. C. Walberg, both of Santa Ana, and four grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements will be made later by Divel funeral home, San Clemente.

Free Suspects In Fresno Murder

FRESNO, Cal., July 19.—(UP)—Police today released three suspects held for questioning in connection with the robbery and murder of G. E. Ward, 45, Fresno planing mill worker, who died from bullet wounds suffered when he was shot and robbed at a downtown Fresno intersection Sunday night.

A statewide search continued for the two dapper killers who leaped onto Ward's car as he approached a stop signal, fired at him three times and after robbing him of $80, dumped him out, fatally wounded, a mile from the scene of the shooting.

Police Chief Frank Truax said questioning of Herbert Lauritzen, 24, who found Ward on the street and took him to the hospital might establish a lead which will result in capture of the killers.

AIR CRASH FATAL SNOHOMISH, Wash., July 19.—(UP)—Aviation Cadet Joseph C. Booth, 26, Glendale, Calif., and Jasper C. Monti, 24, Berkeley, Calif., pharmacists' mate, were killed here yesterday when the airplane they were flying struck high tension wires and crashed into the Snohomish river. They were attached to the U. S. S. Louisville, anchored in Seattle harbor.

PHILADELPHIA, July 19.—(UP)—The U. S. S. Nashville, new 10,000 ton cruiser, steamed out of the Philadelphia navy yard today on a two month shakedown cruise that will take it 600 men and 40 officers to Cuba and Europe.

The cruiser was launched at the Camden, N. J. shipyards of the New York shipbuilding company June 6. It will go to Cuba, Cherbourg, France; Stockholm, Sweden, and Portland, Eng., before returning about Sept. 30.

NEW YORK, July 19.—(UP)—The cross of honor whose recipients include Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, will be awarded tomorrow to Howard Hughes for his record breaking round the world flight.

Corrigan and His $900 "Crate"

Pictured above are Douglas Corrigan and his $900 "crate" in which he started the world when he pulled a "Roy Riegels" and flew the wrong way. At least, that's Corrigan's story. For purposes of publication, Corrigan said he started for Los Angeles, and through an "error in judgment" found himself in Dublin, Ireland. The plane, at first detained by Irish authorities, was today released to the owner. Although officials believe Corrigan will come home on the same ship on which his plane will be shipped, the Californian has hinted that he would like to fly to London while he is in the general vicinity of England.

JUDGE FINES 12 MAJOR OIL COMPANIES FOR PRICE FIXING

MADISON, Wis., July 19.—(UP)—Judge Patrick T. Stone fined 12 major midwest oil companies the maximum of $5000 each and five executives $1000 each, a total of $65,000 and costs, in U. S. district court today as the climax of the government's anti-trust prosecution of the oil industry in this region.

The verdict convicting 16 companies and 30 executives of a criminal conspiracy to raise and fix gasoline prices, returned by a jury of farmers and small town business men here Jan. 22, was set aside by Judge Stone in the case of one company and 10 high ranking executives, and a new trial was ordered for 15 other executives and three companies.

Many Eliminated The prosecution started with indictment of 24 companies, 56 individuals, and three trade publications. As the 15 weeks trial progressed, Judge Stone eliminated all but 16 companies and 30 individuals, all of whom the jury found guilty after only a few hours deliberation.

Judge Stone said he was completely satisfied of the guilt of, and accordingly fined, the following executives: Charles E. Arnott, New York, vice president, Socony-Vacuum; H. T. Ashton, St. Louis, Mo., general manager, Lubrite division of Socony-Vacuum; P. E. Lakin, sales manager, Shell Petroleum Corp.; Robert W. McDowell, Tulsa, Okla., vice president, Mid-Continent Petroleum Corp.; R. H. McElroy Jr., Chicago, tank sales manager, Pure Oil Co.

Those who have not heretofore voted in the county, or who failed to vote at either the August primary or general election of 1936 and have not since registered, or who have changed address since such voting or registering, must again register in order to vote at the coming primary.

Registration Dead Line Near, Warns Official

Two more days, after today, in which to register for the primary election of August 30.

County Clerk Basil J. Smith will close the registration books Thursday evening, little more than 48 hours hence. Clerk Smith will hold his office open during the evening, instead of closing at 5 p. m. as customary.

Those who voted in Orange county at either the August primary or the November general election of 1936, and have not since changed their addresses, need not register again as they remain qualified to vote, under the permanent registration law.

Those who have not heretofore voted in the county, or who failed to vote at either the August primary or general election of 1936 and have not since registered, or who have changed address since such voting or registering, must again register in order to vote at the coming primary.

Jury Frees London Doctor

LONDON, July 19.—(UP)—A jury in old Bailey court today acquitted Dr. Aleck William Bourne, one of Britain's leading obstetricians, of charges that he violated the abortion law.

The patient was a 14-year-old girl, who had been attacked on April 27 by a soldier of the Royal Horse Guards. The jury deliberated 40 minutes.

Dr. Bourne had announced that he was "prepared to become a martyr" in his challenge of the English law which permits such an operation only to save the life of mother or child. Protesting "crazy and cruel" interpretations of the law, Dr. Bourne insisted that 99 per cent of my colleagues would be agreeable to an operation such as 1 performed.

2000 FIGHT LOSING BATTLE AS FIRES SWEEP CALIFORNIA AREA

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19.—(UP)—Raging brush and timber fires swept through eight national forests in Northern California today. Forest service officials announced more than 2000 men were unable to keep up with new blazes or control a 1200 acre fire in the Red Cap Prairie area northeast of Eureka.

Leaping over brush land dry as tinder, the Red Cap Prairie fire yesterday and more were predicted as weather forecasts indicated continued dry and sultry weather.

All available CCC enrollees were being used in fighting the blazes with an additional 500 men in the field as compared to yesterday.

Airplanes Aid Three airplanes chartered to locate new outbreaks and drop parachute loads of food to weary fire fighters continued to operate.

In addition to the fires in the Klamath forest, 80 were reported in the Shasta forest, 40 in Trinity, 17 in Tahoe, 16 in Plumas, 15 in Lassen, 6 in Modoc and 1 in Mendocino.

More new outbreaks occurred proportionately in Trinity forest than in any other, foresters said. There were 14 yesterday, 40 today.

Rebel Army Nears Goal

HENDAYE, French-Spanish Frontier, July 19.—(UP)—Spanish Nationalist forces slowed up today in their campaign to capture Sagunto and Valencia, but claimed to have dislodged Loyalists from mountainous positions on the outskirts of Viver.

Nationalist reports said their air force opened the way for an infantry assault that resulted in capture of the heights dominating a large part of the Sagunto road on the edge of Viver. Viver is 25 miles inland from Sagunto, which in turn is on the Mediterranean coast 16 miles north of the former Loyalist capital of Valencia.

Planes Shot Down Nationalist headquarters claimed that five Curtiss and eleven Boeing airplanes of the Loyalist force were shot down during raids on the Nationalist lines.

A column under Gen. Miguel Aranda, held up for weeks on the Mediterranean coastal road north of Sagunto, was reported in Nationalist dispatches from Burgos, to

PICKETS, DEPUTIES IN BITTER BATTLE

NORTH CHICAGO, Ill., July 19.—(UP)—Fifty deputy sheriffs dispersed 500 pickets at the strike-bound Chicago Hardware Foundry company today with tear and sickening gas.

The pickets had ignored orders to break their cordon. The attack lasted 30 minutes when it was over the sheriff's men controlled the factory gates for the first time since June 6, when the CIO union called a strike in protest against a 10 per cent wage cut.

Shouts Ultimatum Deputy Sheriff Stanley Knauth shouted the ultimatum to strike leaders to disperse.

The pickets—men and women who earlier had linked arms and forced back an automobile filled with factory foremen—solidified

Seek Slayer Of Football Star

ROSEVILLE, July 19.—(UP)—Police said today they had sent out an order to several states to watch for a small roadster in which it was believed Everett G. Parman, 25, wanted in connection with the fatal shooting of George McElroy, 20-year-old football star, had made his escape.

McElroy was shot down as he demanded an explanation of the charges by his sister-in-law, Margaret Brusso, 21, that she had been assaulted by Parman. The shooting occurred on a downtown corner. Police said several persons had named Parman as the slayer.

Mrs. Brusso told police she had been beaten unconscious by Parman.

Berlin Stocks Rise Five Points

BERLIN, July 19.—(UP)—Stocks rebounded on the Berlin Bourse today when it was announced authoritatively that Jews would not be forbidden to own securities.

Prices rose 1 to 5 points, regaining nearly all of yesterday's drop of 2 to 7 points.

SUPERVISORS EMBATTLED BY IRATE HARBOR BOAT BUILDER

Spray was flying and verbal breakers washed over the county supervisors today as H. P. Howard, irate harbor boat builder, took the board to task for contracting construction of a harbor fire and police boat without advertising for bids.

Howard criticized action of the board, through Purchasing Agent Eugene Fenelon, in obtaining informal bids from certain boat builders, without plans and with what he termed inadequate specifications; and in awarding the contract to the Payton Boat company and McAlery on a bid of $6567, without bonding the contractor. A naval architect should have been employed.

Ability Questioned He questioned McAlery's ability to build so large a boat, and urged the board to rescind the contract. Fenelon, called by the board to answer Howard's queries and criticism, read the specifications, which he declared had been prepared by

PLAN CIVIL SERVICE FOR S. A. EMPLOYEES

The move to place every Santa Ana city employee under civil service regulation gained impetus at city council meeting last night when the councilmen unanimously adopted a motion recommending that the civil service board immediately consider the feasibility of such a program.

The people, several months ago, voted civil service for police and firemen and an ordinance was thereafter adopted by council, setting forth civil service procedure and rules. An amendment to that ordinance is all that is necessary, now, for bringing civil service to all departments.

Six Month Job The civil service board, composed of private citizens, George Parker, president; Phil Brown, secretary, and Clyde Ashen, will act upon the council's recommendation soon, according to reports. But, should the board say "yes" to the program, it probably would require six months or longer to classify all employees outside of the fire and police departments before the great variety of jobs in the city government, City Attorney Blodgett stated.

The city attorney agreed, if council wished, to prepare the amendment to ordinance at once. However, council passed up the suggestion, advising him to assist the civil service board if the board wished him to. Council Plummer Bruns said he was "all for it," referring to the proposed all-city civil service program. No elective officer could come under civil service regulation.

BANDITS SOUGHT NEW YORK, July 19.—(UP)—Three bandits who first requested ice cream sundae and then produced revolvers and said: "Give us your dough," shot and killed George Hess Jr., 19, attendant in an ice cream parlor when he resisted them today.

Samish Accused As Perjurer

SACRAMENTO, Cal., July 19.—(UP)—A warrant charging Arthur H. Samish, central figure in the grand jury investigation of alleged legislative corruption, with perjury was signed at noon today by J. L. R. Marsh, grand jury foreman.

Samish had left the courthouse before the warrant was signed, and District Attorney Otis D. Babcock ordered members of his staff to serve the warrant on the San Francisco lobbyist.

The complaint was based on Samish's testimony concerning fees he received from M. C. Levese, Hollywood agent, who testified before the grand jury this morning. Levese said Samish was retained to represent motion picture agents and protect them against "detrimental bills." In earlier testimony, Samish had insisted the fees were not for "legislative purposes."

The complaint charging Samish with perjury was signed by Justice of the Peace Percy G. West.

Pistol Match Slated In L. A.

SUNVALLEY, Idaho, July 19.—(UP)—It's going to be a gun-fanning battle next Wednesday at Los Angeles between Sheriff E. F. Prater of Twin Falls and Police Chief James Davis of the California metropolis.

Prater, shooting it out with 35 marksmen at Elkhorn Gulch near here yesterday, plugged an ace of spades three times at 45 feet, shooting the black out of the card. He used a .38 six shooter.

By so doing, he won the right to go to Los Angeles and compete with the city chief in a round of western gunplay. An ace of spades will be used in that contest. The show will be a part of the annual Los Angeles police benefit.

Court Upholds Orchard Ruling

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 19.—(UP)—The fourth district court of appeals, in a decision reversing the San Bernardino county superior court, today had upheld the authority of John P. Coy, county agricultural commissioner, to order the removal and destruction of all trees proved to be infected with peach mosaic.

The decision, written by Acting Justice Charles C. Haines, and concurred in by two other justices, is expected to be of far reaching importance to orchardists. Court attaches today said they expected the case would be carried to the state supreme court for final decision.

P. A. Skinner, San Bernardino county, originally instituted the action in the superior courts of that county where he was granted an injunction prohibiting Coy from removing or destroying trees which allegedly were infected with the rapidly spreading growth.

KING, QUEEN VISIT PARIS

PARIS, July 19.—(UP)—King George VI and Queen Elizabeth, making their first state visit to any foreign nation since they ascended the throne of Great Britain, were welcomed to Paris today with a great military display.

Their majesties arrived at the Bois de Boulogne station at 4:50 p. m. by special train to begin the four day visit designed to cement the Anglo-Frenchship.

Troops Take Over Two hours before their arrival, troops virtually took over Paris. Army tanks rumbled through the boulevards and took up commanding positions in the Place de la Concorde and the Champs Elysee, barring all traffic.

About 35,000 troops, comprising 20 infantry regiments, five cavalry regiments and 10,000 mobile guards, were stationed along the route from the station to the Quai d'Orsay, where the king and queen will stay in the state apartments of the foreign office.

Spectacular Display The troops included Zouaves and African Spahi units. It was probably the greatest military display Paris has seen since the Armistice parade after the World war.

The special train that brought the king and queen from Cologne, where they had landed after crossing from Dover, pulled slowly into the station to the thunder of a 101 gun royal salute and the cheering of a crowd that pressed against the lines of troops.

As the train stopped a detachment of buglers sounded "reveille" and a band then played "God Save the King" and the "Marseillaise."

The king, dressed in the uniform of an admiral, and the queen, wearing black and pearls, were escorted into the central pavilion of the station, where President Albert LeBrun, Mrs. LeBrun, members of the cabinet and other French dignitaries waited them. All the civil officials wore formal dress and silk hats.

The king walked directly to President LeBrun and addressed him in French: "Comment allez vous?" (How are you?)

Make Introductions Le Brun then introduced King George to the members of his cabinet, while Mme. LeBrun presented Queen Elizabeth to the cabinet members' wives.

It was estimated that about 500,000 persons lined the route. The fronts of the buildings were covered with French and British flags and broad streamers of the two nations' red, white and blue colors.

Queen Decorated During their short visit at the Elysee palace, President LeBrun decorated Queen Elizabeth with the cordon of the grand cross of the legion of honor. This is the highest decoration that France can bestow. King George had received it in 1919.

Their majesties returned tonight to the Elysee palace for a formal dinner in their honor. All the members of the British party, members of the French government, high military and naval officers and the elite of Parisian society were present. They were entertained after dinner by Sacha Guitry and Ninon Vallin of the Opera Comique.

British Ship Sends Out S. O. S.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19.—(UP)—Globe Wireless announced today its Manila station intercepted an SOS at 7:07 a. m. PST from a vessel which identified itself as the "City of Derby" and reported itself ashore on Sililo Island in need of immediate assistance.

The Luzon Stevedoring company ordered the tug Trabador to the rescue. Sililo Island is midway between Mindanao and Negros islands. The "City of Derby" is a 4190 ton freighter operated by Ullman & Bucknall, London. The craft ordinarily carries a crew of 35.

Later messages from the ship said while its position was precarious, it was not leaking and was lying quietly in moderate weather. Rough seas, it was feared, would cause the craft to break up. The inter-island steamer Luzon offered assistance.

Stock Values Hit New Highs

NEW YORK, July 19.—(UP)—Stock values increased by more than a billion dollars today in the most active session since October 21, 1937.

Transactions totaled 2,920,000 shares, or more than 1,000,000 shares above yesterday's total of 1,960,000 shares.

Gains ranged to $6 a share. The industrial average made a new high since October, and was up 3.28 points at 143.87.

The railroad average rose more than 3 per cent and was the highest since March.

The rise began at the opening when blocks of 1,000 to 8,000 shares appeared on the tape at rising prices. The closing tape carried long strings and large blocks of the railroad issues.

Buying came from all quarters. Europeans placed orders after their markets rose. Small orders were executed for trades throughout the United States.

ASSOCIATED FARMERS PROTEST NLRB RULING

CITRUS CREWS EXEMPT. PLEA

Every rancher in Orange county who is a member of a cooperative packing house views with protest the latest ruling of the National Labor Relations Board in the North Whittier Heights Citrus association case. The case involves a board move to extend its control over employer-employee relations into the vast field embracing thousands of Southern citrus workers.

This was the announcement today of George Graham, secretary of the Orange County Associated Farmers, as he reviewed a resume of the litigation, which will determine whether packinghouse workers handling farm products in the raw or natural state are under the jurisdiction of the NLRB.

Over the protests of the association and kindred agricultural groups, the board assumed jurisdiction over employer-employee relations between the packinghouse and its employees on the petition of the Citrus Packinghouse Workers' Union last August, Graham said.

The employers held that the act creating the board exempted agricultural workers from board jurisdiction and that citrus packinghouse workers came within the exemption.

Not only did the board assume jurisdiction, but last March it ordered the association to reemploy 27 persons, with back pay, who, the board asserted, were discharged for unionization activities.

Order Withdrawn
The association appealed to the United States Court of Appeals of San Francisco. The board withdrew the order, and the appeal thus came to naught.

Now the board has just reissued the order, with the provision, however, that the association may present arguments against it in Washington within the next three weeks.

The new order, Ivan G. McDanel, attorney for the association, said, is identical with the old "and in no instance did the board attempt to correct what the farmers aver to have been an unfair handling of their case."

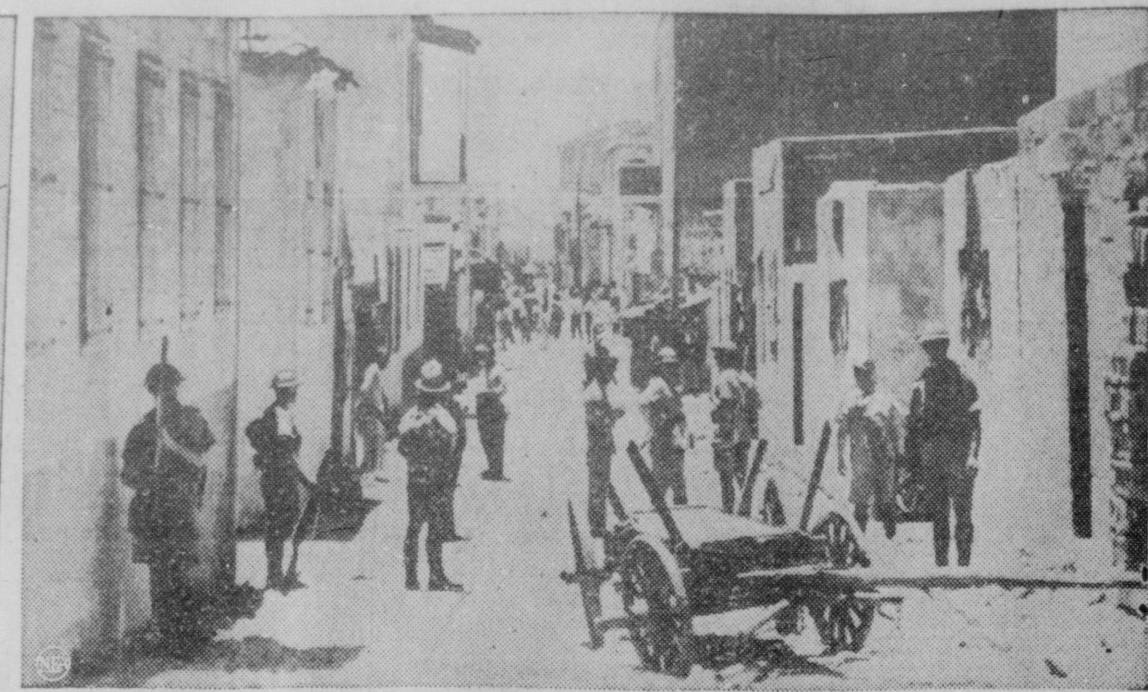

Says Nothing, He's Grandpa Today

City Engineer J. L. McBride wasn't talking much last night at city council meeting and this morning but he was all smiles. Reason: Seven pounds, eight ounces of grandson doing fine at St. Joseph hospital.

Charles McBride Bradley, son of Atty. and Mrs. George E. Bradley, 1230 South Parton, was born yesterday. His mother, formerly Miss Elma McBride, too, is doing splendidly.

Where Three-Cornered Civil War Threatens in Palestine

Danger spots in Palestine as a result of Jew-Arab rioting are shown in the map above. The dotted line along the Palestine-Syria border shows the location of "Tegart's Wall," a $500,000 electrified fence designed to keep extremists out of the country. The arrow just north of the Dead Sea shows where 600 Arabs broke across the Trans Jordan border and clashed with British troops.

Charged with the duty of controlling angry Arabs and Jews, whose almost constant rioting has caused scores of deaths in Palestine, British soldiers are pictured above as they patrolled the streets of Tel Aviv, London for reinforcements. The British battle cruiser Repulse was dispatched at full steam to join the cruiser Emerald at Haifa, where troops had thrown a "sanitary cordon" around the city to prevent clashes. The British government ordered its military commanders in the Holy Land to take action of the firmest sort to combat Jewish and Arab extremists who have conducted a reign of terror for days.

REVISION OF ZONE TO AWAIT MEASURE

Action on the application of Orville Pulliam for a change of zone on South Main street between St. Gertrude and St. Andrews places to light industry to permit construction of a wholesale and retail poultry business was deferred indefinitely by city council last night.

Upon recommendation of the city planning commission, council agreed to table the request until a new zoning ordinance, now under consideration, is completed and ready for adoption.

Promises Improvement
C. W. Hyde, Jr., who said he owns 79 lots in the tract adjacent to the proposed poultry place and has a Federal Housing administration program for building of 50 $3900 homes there, led the group of protesters. His property lies between Main street and the Country Club Gardens tract and Flower and St. Gertrude places.

Herb Allemen, realtor, speaking on behalf of Pulliam, stated that every modern sanitary improvement which could be obtained would be put into the construction. He also said all of the work of handling the chickens or rabbits would be done inside so neighbors would not be disturbed.

Carefree Peeper Is Taken To Jail

An assertedly nonchalant "peeping Tom" who continued to look into the home of Lucian Chavez, 1224 East Third, even as police and other witnesses stood by watching him, was arrested and booked at county jail on a vagrancy charge.

The arrested man, who, Officers J. W. Foster, Roy Hartley, Paul Cozad and Clyde Flower said, was intoxicated, is Daniel Arbisio, 22, 219 Grand avenue. Witnesses said Arbisio called to one of the Chavez girls through the window and when he failed to gain attention, scratched on the window. When officers arrived at the scene at 11:40 p. m., they said Arbisio was still "window gazing."

His companion, Moses Avila, 31, 1828 West First, was jailed on a drunk charge.

Jose Hernandez, 33, 513 Fairlawn, arrested at Fourth and Bush early this morning by Officers W. H. Head and Francis Norton, was pronounced "very" drunk and booked at the jail on drunk driving charge.

ONE HURT, EIGHT ESCAPE IN CRASH

Eight of nine persons involved in an accident at First and Main streets at 7:45 p. m. yesterday escaped injury, according to report of Officers W. H. Heard and Francis Norton.

The investigation revealed, the officers stated, that a car assertedly driven through a stop signal as it proceeded north of Main by John Weilbaum, 34, Pasadena, and one driven westerly on First by Thomas P. Wilcox, 16, 302 South Sycamore, collided. Clement C. Callahan, 27, Pasadena, only one injured, was given first aid for a cut above the left eye by the officers and taken to county hospital for further treatment. Sam Roberts, 17, 302 South Sycamore, and Lee Smith, 16, 328 1-2 Orange avenue, were riding with Wilcox; the others were members of Weilbaum's party.

HUNT BURGLARS IN TWO THEFTS

Three thefts, two of them burglaries, were being investigated in county territory by sheriff's officers today.

The firm of Jerome and Iverson reported a hack-saw was used home time within the past two weeks to cut off a padlock fastening to a door of the firm's refinery tool house. Several large wrenches and dies were included in the loot.

Barefoot Burglars
Arthur Klein, Magnolia and Cerritos avenues, reported barefoot burglars, apparently children, cut a window screen at his home yesterday, opened a window, entered and stole $4.50 cash from a dresser drawer while he was absent. Max Lehman, Browning and Mitchell avenues, Tustin, told Deputies Wait Dungan and A. W. Rodabaugh today that thieves stole one of his Rhode Island hens last Thursday, one yesterday and two last night. He said he believed "someone who was hungry probably did the job." The officers, not finding any evidence of human thieves, believed a coyote robbed the Lehman hen house.

VANDALS RAID CLIFF HOUSE
Youthful vandals used rocks as hammers to smash three windows of the Cliff House, overlooking Newport Beach, about 2:50 a. m. today, sheriff's officers, called to investigate, were informed. They were told accounts of the place saw three or four boys run from the place after breaking the windows. RIVER EXPLORERS PREPARE FOR FINAL LAP OF JOURNEY

GRAND CANYON, Ariz., July 19.—(UP)—Six adventurers of the Nevills Colorado river expedition conferred with national park service officials here today as they prepared for the final lap of their voyage down the mile-deep canyons.

The party, led by Norman D. Nevills, veteran riverman, spent last night in the floor of the Grand canyon and came up to the south rim this morning.

Not for Weaklings

"I wouldn't recommend the trip for weak-hearted persons," Nevills said. "We were forced to shoot every rapid from Lee's Ferry down because we couldn't get around them in any other way." Included in the party that took off from Lee's Ferry Wednesday and successfully navigated the dangerous stream were Dr. Elzada Clover, University of Michigan botanist, and her assistant, 25-year-old Lois Jotter, both attempting to be the first women to conquer the Colorado; W. C. Gibson, San Francisco photographer; Loren Bell, Tuba City, Ariz.; and Del Reid, Mexican Hat, Utah. Nevills said the explorers would resume their journey tomorrow morning to Lake Mead, backed up behind Boulder Dam. They set out July 20 from Green River, Utah, for the 650-mile trip to study the hidden flora in the inaccessible bottoms of the Colorado.

General Escapes

Another bomb fell within 50 feet of Feng Yu-Hsiang, China's "Christian general" as he darted along a street to a place of safety. He is a member of the Chinese government's board of strategy.

Foreign observers believed the raid retaliated for recent Chinese bombings which were chiefly responsible for holding up the Japanese advance up the Yangtze valley toward Hankow. For a week the Japanese have been held up outside Kiukiang, 135 miles below Hankow.

Three huge fires broke out in Hanyang, close to the arsenal. It was not believed, however, that the arsenal itself had been hit.

PROTEST ON WEEDS ONE WEEK TOO LATE

One meeting too late, Mrs. Sophia A. Witte, 758 West 23rd street, San Pedro, last night submitted a protest to city council complaining her $4.80 bill for cleaning weeds from her lot adjacent to the Mexican Catholic church, Artesia street tract, was more than it should be.

At council meeting, July 5, council held a weed protest hearing. No protests were received at that time and council ordered bills sent to lot owners whose lots were cleaned by the city. Mrs. Witte's protest letter was sent to City Engineer J. L. McBride for answering. He pointed out numerous other protests against weed-cleaning assessments have reached his office too late.

U. S. Suspends Corrigan's License

his transatlantic flight, had commented casually:

"She's good enough to fly around the world."

Corrigan slept until 9 a. m. this morning, and then walked in the location grounds after reading cablegrams of congratulation from all over the world.

One message was from Henry Ford.

The American hero of the world-record wrong direction flight, after a night as the guest of American Minister John Cudahy under an informal state of "open detention" because he landed here from New York without a passport or other required papers, had expressed doubt earlier that he would try to fly back.

New Idea?

But as he made his casual remark about his plane's round the world capabilities, some interviewers thought they detected the gleam as of a dawning idea in his eyes.

For the moment Corrigan planned to spend a couple of days looking at the country, while Irish officials communicated with American authorities as to his status. For, officially, he did not exist and should be in Los Angeles, 6000 miles away, toward which he still insisted he thought he was flying for hours after he left Floyd Bennett field in New York Sunday morning.

Sensation in England

Corrigan's exploit was a sensation in Ireland and Great Britain. British newspapers smashed the story as the main one of the day and subordinated to it the historic state visit of the king and queen to France—the first such visit of a British monarch since the late King George V went to France a few weeks before the world war.

It was notable, in the British newspaper treatment of the flight, that after mature consideration, grave doubt was expressed that Corrigan was really serious when he insisted that he meant to fly not to Ireland but to Los Angeles. Presumably he labored under another major misapprehension, because in talking of his takeoff he referred to Roosevelt field. He took off from Floyd Bennett.

'Just Looking,' Says 2 'Prowlers'

Two Santa Ana men who were described as prowlers by a complainant merely were looking for some "new girl friends," they told police who intercepted them on West First street at 10:25 p. m. yesterday.

M. J. Pluneda, Route 4, Santa Ana, complained that prowlers in a black sedan bearing license 6-X-235 were loitering about the neighborhood. When he took the license number, they fled, he told officers. Officers W. H. Heard and Francis Norton intercepted Everett A. Farmer, 26, 2213 South Towner, Santa Ana, and Fred Hutter, 204 Central, in the car. "We were just driving around looking for some girls," they explained. After a warning by the officers, they were sent home.

himself and the harbor master, and which he considered clear enough. He said he required no bond of the contractor because he had faith in him. McAlery's ability had been strongly recommended by the boat firm of Fellows and Stewart, which both Fenelon and Howard agreed were competent judges.

Hurl Charges

Howard, however, declared that the board would not know what kind of a boat it was getting, and that it was criminal negligence to send a rescue crew beyond the breakwater on a boat of unknown worth.

Fenelon intimated that the criticism of the step was based on bitterness engendered by litigation between McAlery and the Western Boat Works.

Supervisors finally referred the matter to District Attorney Menton to determine whether the proceedings had been legal. Fenelon said Menton had told him the harbor district was not required to advertise for bids, as the county would be.

Kidnaped

Forced to ride all night beside an armed kidnaper, and then tied to a tree near French Lick, Ind., Miss Nettie Costin, above, used a sharp rock to cut her bonds and escape. The 22-year-old girl was kidnapped while sitting with an escort in her car in a Louisville park. The fact that Miss Costin was taken across a state line makes the kidnapping a federal offense.

Pickets, Deputies In Bitter Fight

their ranks and waited.

Police lined up 150 feet away, shoulder to shoulder. When the deadline passed, Chief Deputy Stanley Christianson blew his whistle and cried: "Yet 'em have it."

Stand Ground

The law forces advanced, throwing gas grenades and firing from long and short range gas guns.

For a few moments the pickets stood their ground. Then they began breaking away, tears streaming down their cheeks. Several held their posts until the police line reached them and they were slugged. One woman was thrown to the ground when she attempted single handed to resist the deputies.

have reached a point 10 miles north of the city. Aranda's column had been hated at Chilches, but if today's dispatches are confirmed he has driven about two miles south from that point.

"Last Ditch" Fight

Northwest of Sagunto, on the main highway to Teruel, the Loyalists dug in for a last ditch fight at a point two miles on the other side of Viver, which is 25 miles from the sea.

Gen. Jose Varela commanded the insurgent forces in the Viver sector and Nationalist reports asserted that it was his column which upset the Loyalist plans for an offensive.

The Nationalists asserted that when Varela struck at Sarrion through Albentosa, further to the northwest, his swift advance upset Gen. Jose Miaja's plans and that the latter was unable to withdraw about 25,000 crack troops, transferred from the Madrid front, from Albentosa, in time to save them.

BRITISH FREIGHTER BOMBED BY REBELS

VALENCIA, July 18.—(UP)—The British freighter Stanland was bombed and set afire today by five Nationalist airplanes in a raid over Valencia port at 9 a. m. There were no victims aboard ship but eight dock workers in the vicinity were killed.

In two earlier raids on Valencia Nationalist planes destroyed several houses but there were no victims. In a raid on Alcira, south of Valencia, one person was killed and seven injured.

The Stanland was alongside the quay discharging cargo when a rain of heavy bombs dug huge craters within a radius of 200 yards.

One bomb struck a part of the cargo which had been set ashore, igniting the ship 10 feet away. The fire spread quickly to the bridge and members of the crew and dock workers spent several hours putting it out.

Two observers of the international non-intervention committee were aboard the Stanland. They were Albert Wijk of the Netherlands and Salvatore Cirrincione of Italy.

PRESIDENT ALL SET FOR BIG FISHING PARTY IN TROPICS

ABOARD U. S. S. HOUSTON, Enroute to Cocos Isle, July 19. — (By Naval Radio to the United Press) — President Roosevelt reached the tropics today on his fishing vacation. The Houston crossed the Tropic of Cancer during the night enroute from Magdalena bay to Cape San Lucas, southernmost point of Lower California.

The President, who caught a 35-pound yellowtail in Magdalena bay was eager to try his luck off San Lucas where the fishing season is presently at its best.

This far the President's fishing has been second to that of Colonel E. M. Watson. The colonel pulled a 60 pound grouper from Magdalena, where the party did most of its fishing known to mankind.

The whale shark is the largest fish known to mankind.

Reds Going Places With Four Sluggers In League's First Five

Wally Berger

Frank McCormick

BY HARRY GRAYSON
(Sports Editor, NEA Service)
CINCINNATI — Every day the Reds win is Armistice day or the Fourth of July in Cincinnati. The Rhineland is really celebrating.

Reds shook off their slump . . . got going again, and everybody is happy from the man in the street to Judge Landis. Good citizens of Cincinnati, who last year believed baseball was for children, now discuss Johnny Vander Meer, Paul Derringer, batting averages, and infield strategy. Fans who talked baseball now babble it.

Government is ready to investigate monopolies, and those more concerned about National League affairs applaud as Bill McKechnie and Frank Merriwell smash one in the elder loop.

Giants have been out of the first division only twice in 22 seasons. Cubs haven't finished worse than fourth in a decade. Pirates have been missing from the chosen four only three times since 1908. Cardinals have been in the first division 11 out of 13 times.

Monopoly made the outcome of the National League race about as doubtful as the result of Italy's campaign in Ethiopia. The second division simply didn't figure.

BUCKS OFFICE MAGNET
But now Reds are kicking the traditional leaders in the pants, and the customers love it. The Reds ran a smacking last in 1937, and the trade likes to see the underdog come out on top.

Their inspiring heroes have tinkered an equally inspiring tune on the cash register. Fancy any other Cincinnati club of more recent years drawing 30,000 paying guests in Chicago, which is what the current edition did the other Sunday afternoon.

Cincinnati's stand isn't a fluke. It has corks pitching, and its big guns are monopolists in all National league hitting statistics. Reds hold four berths in the circuit's Big Five list of batters.

Large Ernie Lombardi tops them all with .374. Wally Berger has hit at a .359 clip since he rejoined his old employer, McKechnie. Frank McCormick has an average of .341. Ival Goodman .338. Only the mighty Joe Medwick of the Cardinals, with .345, is able to break into this exclusive company.

McCormick, Goodman, and Schanzler Lombardi are second, third, and fifth, respectively, in runs batted in.

MANAGERS RESPECT 'EM
Frank Frisch of the Cardinals insists that he's never seen such hitting as the Reds have ground out this year.

"Maybe we haven't got any of those lead balls yet," means the old Fordham Flak, yet means the old Frisch still likes New York for the pennant, but has a lot of respect for Cincinnati.

Frisch is in the same class with Bill Terry of the Giants when it comes to drawing a comparison between the Reds and Pirates. When Terry announced the National League lineup for the All-Star game, the Reds had an unfinished streak of six defeats, while the Buccaners, not only had lagged seven in a row, including four from the Reds, but also had copped 23 of their last 31.

Yet Terry placed four Reds in his starting lineup "because they were the best players in the National League," as he took trouble to explain, and did not name a single Pittsburgh athlete.

An old baseball question is "What's wrong with the Reds?" It's still being asked, but with an entirely different meaning.

Santa Ana City league fans were still gasping for breath today following last night's thrilling Bowl doubleheader which saw Alliance Mutual Life's Kids break a 2-2 deadlock in extra innings to win 6-5 from Montgomery Ward's stubborn forces and Treesweet Products' rejuvenated nine rally in the seventh for an 8-4 win from M. E. South's Mustangs.

Going two extra innings, the feature game between Alliance Mutual and Montgomery Ward's 1937 champions had close to 800 patrons in a dither of excitement before the end came in the ninth. Roy Stout, Ward hurler was the victim of a three-run rally in the first of the ninth before he was removed with no away. The Alliance team scored once more before Harold Youd retired the side. It was this run that proved the winning one. Bob Wimbush started the trouble by hitting a drive at Roy Stout that was scored "too hot to handle." Bob Winkler doubled to center. Nathan Levens sent both Wimbush and Winkler home when he lifted a long triple into right. Halderman drove Stout to cover with an infield single, scoring Levens.

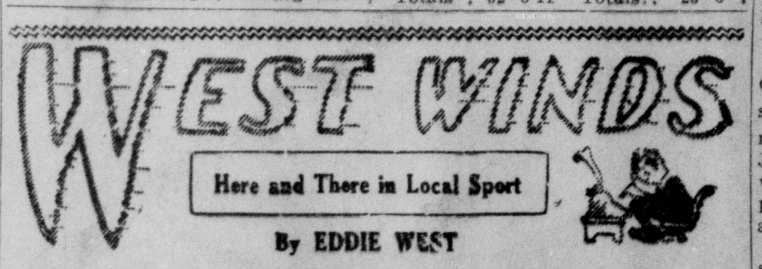

ens. "Brownie" McCain welcomed Youel with a single down the first base line. Everett Winkler forced Halderman and Gundersen filed out. McCain came home with the winning run when Dominguez was safe on Jackson's error.

Montgomery Ward did not admit defeat, however, until the last man was out in its half of the ninth. Ben Byland led off with a home run. Erwin Youel doubled and rambled home on Jackson's single. Charlie Newsome and Warren Mann singled, scoring Jackson. Pitcher Jim Haynes finally retired the side.

Treesweet's four-run rally in the seventh inning of the curtain-raiser assured them victory after trailing 6-4 going into the final inning. Kiser and Handley walked. Jefferson and Bagwell singled, and Barnhart was safe on a fielder's choice.

BY TOM GWYNNE
(Register Track Correspondent)
Saratoga is the next stop for Seabiscuit.
Tom Smith, trainer of the C. S. Howard champion which captured the $50,000 Hollywood Gold Cup Saturday, today disclosed the new timetable following that the Arlington Gold Cup (July 30) had been cancelled. It had been planned to ship to Chicago within the next two days, but now it seems likely that Seabiscuit will remain here for about two weeks before going to the up-state New York course.
"I would like to concentrate on weight-for-age races for Seabiscuit," Trainer Smith said. "Otherwise, Seabiscuit would be forced to carry increasingly heavy impost, and I would like to avoid that."
Thus Seabiscuit will likely appear under silks in the Saratoga Gold Cup. The Whitney and other weight-for age races at the Spa track.
In the meantime, the Longacres track at Seattle bid for Seabiscuit offering a $15,000 mile special, which would also feature Specify and Ligatort. The chances for this race coming off appear decidedly remote, however.
Trainer Smith said he did not favor accepting it, while Bert Baroni, owner of Specify, said "I lost my one chance to beat him when I caught him a little off Saturday, but Specify probably wouldn't have much of a chance if he hooked him again."
Seabiscuit came out of the race in fine shape and the effort undoubtedly tightened him up. It's highly questionable if he could have defeated a real topnotcher last Saturday. Suffice to say, Tom Smith, a master conditioner, gauged his opposition perfectly, and trained Seabiscuit accordingly.
Two stakes are on tap this week as Hollywood Park brings its sparkling season to a close Saturday.
Sprinters whirl into action tomorrow in the $2500 added Roseben Handicap at seven furlongs. This stake is an extra attraction on the schedule for the meeting.
Nominations include some of the swiftest sprinters in training at Ingleswood. Speed to Spare, Dogaway, Brown Jade, King Saxon, Rommy, Woodberry, Lavengro, Alvis and Ariel Cross are on the list.
The closing fixture Saturday will be the $5000 added Aloha Handicap at a mile-and-an-eighth. This is in the nature of a consolation for horses beaten in the Gold Cup. It will be another chance for Ligatort and Whichever to settle their differences. Ligatort had a rather rough trip Saturday, while Whichever had clear sailing.
Other good ones nominated for the Aloha include Suckpot, Star Shadow, No Dice, Patty Cake, Rommy, Tornillo, Count Atlas, Gray Jack, Grey Count, Warfield, Noble Count, Fire Marshal and Don Roberto.
HERE AND THERE: Jockeys Silvio Cucchi and Johnny Adams who have furnished most of the saddle fireworks at the meeting, will renew their duel at Del Mar. Both booters are set to ride at the Crosby course which opens after Hollywood Park closes. Bing Crosby has already sent his good 4-year-old High Strike to the same side track. . . . Headliner bowed both front tendons last time out and will never race again. . . . There's a deal on for the sale of Pete McLean's contract. This apprentice is one of the most promising youngsters in action. . . . Johnny Malvius, racing secretary for Longacres, was an arrival yesterday, getting nominations for the $10,000 Longacres Mile. He reports that the Seattle track is doing a nice business, the handle up to 40 per cent over last year, and attendance likewise doubled. Malvius is Webb Everett's assistant at Santa Anita, and it looks as if he is going places as a racing secretary. . . . Hollywood Park plans to give the breeder a prize equal to 5 per cent of the value of the purse in all California-bred races next meeting.

Al Simmons lost 10 pounds as a result of a diet. The Washington outfielder ate nothing but raw fruits for breakfast, starches for lunch and no bread at any time.

Tonight's Games
Santa Ana at Anaheim; San Bernardino at Orange; Huntington Beach at Brea; Whittier at Irvine.

Again presenting a face-lifted front due to the absence of hard-hitting Joe Korral, Santa Ana's Stars go to Anaheim tonight for the final game of the National league's third quarter.

Korral is in Berkeley and may miss Friday's engagement at Orange as well as the one with the Valencians.

Manager Ray Smith has decided to shift Fred (Feet) Wiener to second base and keep Ray Short, hero of last week's Santa Ana-San Bernardino struggle, in center field. Short socked a homer with the bases full and got two other nice hits against San Bernardino. The Stars will go with Richard Mott on first base, Ed Korral catching, Wiener at second, Jacobsmeyer on the mound, Short in center field, Young at third and Denney in left field.

Beaten off twice by Anaheim this season, Santa Ana can make up a lot of ground in the Shaughnessy playoff race by breaking through. For one thing, a win would tie the Stars with Anaheim for third place, and for another it would assure them of no worse than a two-game lead over Irvine going into the final quarter of the schedule.

Rudy Herman will pitch for the Valencians, returning to the turret with a full week of rest. Joe Walsh is back from a two weeks vacation to be at the catching. Anaheim will be at full strength for the first time in a month.

There are other attractive games in this sector tonight. San Bernardino plays at Orange, with Fowler and Dugan expected to put on a pitcher's battle. Huntington Beach goes to Brea. The Oilers are favored but the Red Lions are always troublesome, especially at home. Whittier plays at Irvine and if Whittier's Harold Burch is "right" this one is a toss-up.

Two changes were noted in the Orange County Night Ball league standings today as a result of last night's games. Tustin and San Juan Capistrano were victorious, which kept them tied for first place. Placentia dropped into a tie for second with Yorba Linda. Tustin had to go -11 innings to shade Laguna Beach, 4-3. San Juan Capistrano smashed out a 12-1 victory over Costa Mesa, and Yorba Linda stopped Placentia, 10-3.

None was out in the last of the eleven innings when Leo Morse came home with the winning run in the Tustin-Laguna encounter. Morse was safe on an error, Al Reyes and Herb Grim both singled, sending Morse around.

Another dawn, another day.
Another winning horse—
When Hawkeye's name crops up they say,
"Infallible, of course!"
"After all, there is only one Hawkeye," chuckled the noted maestro of the turf, "and he's tops," he concluded modestly.
A check-up disclosed that this man was indeed so, most undeniably so, and that there were no dissenters. Hawkeye fans aver that yesterday was merely another one of those rare exceptions which prove the rule when his astute play, Fire Marshal, failed to score. ARLINGTON RACE OFF
CHICAGO — (UP) — Arlington Park race track officials said today they had cancelled the $25,000 Arlington Gold Cup feature because Seabiscuit and War Admiral would not appear in the race that was scheduled July 18.

BRUSSELS, Belgium — (UP)—Count Braillet Latour, president of the International Olympic committee, said today that he was cabling all 67 members of the organization to vote by cable whether the 1940 Olympic Games should be held in Finland.
The games originally were scheduled for Japan but Japan gave them up last week because of its Far Eastern conflict.
A special committee appointed by the Helsinki town council has voted unanimously to accept responsibility for organizing Finland's preparations for the 1940 Olympics.
Authorization of a financial guarantee for the Games, if they are awarded Finland, has been voted by Finland's governor.

67 NATIONS TO BALLOT: FINNS WANT CLASSIC

After playing near perfect tennis and losing only two sets throughout the tournament, Marvin Jacobs was crowned Santa Ana's "round robin" tennis champion today following his 6-2, 6-2 victory over Marjorie Lauderbach Blair on the high courts yesterday.
Kenneth Crumley defeated George Lincoln (8-6, 6-4) for the Class B division title.
With the defending Champion Lewis Brownstein, of San Diego, again scheduled to be on hand, Santa Ana Tennis club officials are making preliminary preparations for the annual Santa Ana Open Tourney which will attract more than 100 of the finest players in Southern California. Mrs. Marjorie Lauderbach Blair is women's champion. The Santa Ana Open will be held on the Saint courts August 7-14.

Dean O. K. But He's No Douglas Corrigan
PASADENA.—(UP)—The pessimistic prospect of the general public again being shut out of the Rose Bowl football game—as it was last New Year's Day—was officially banished today.

Meeting in special session, combined forces of the Tournament of Roses committee and the board of directors of the Pacific Coast conference voted unanimously to place at least 40 per cent of the reserved seats on public sale, beginning with the next game, Jan. 1, 1939.

The action marked the first concrete step ever taken to protect the fans who built the East-West contest from a neighborhood attraction into a National spectacle. In past games the Pacific Coast participant in the game was given first choice at the pastebars—and the public was permitted to scramble for what was left.

Under the reorganization the Western representative will be allotted 50 per cent of the admissions, 40 per cent going to the general public, with the remaining 10 per cent to be reserved for the press, civic bodies and other special groups. The visiting Eastern eleven will be given a block of 5000 tickets. Only one in the Rose Bowl history has an invading institution required more, and that was last year when Alabama disposed of 6000.

The old system worked in hit-or-miss fashion until the University of California received the Western bid last year. The Berkeley institution, with a student body greater in number than any other university and an alumni association in proportion, gobbled up 80,000 tickets that the citizens of Pasadena awoke to find the game sold out without so much as a single seat being offered them.

The waiters sprang alertly to each corner but the sports writer heard one young man complain of the service. (Who drew your bath, Douglas, and turned down your bed when fatigue and sleep began to get you after a day and night at the controls?)
There's only one thing you don't deserve much credit for, Douglas, and that is your amazing navigation—hitting Dublin you miss it, Douglas, when you wear a map of Ireland on your face?

The total tax roll, including general insurance, ocean marine and retaliatory, amounted to $7,459,521.30, based on the business reported by the insurance companies for the calendar year 1937.

Gain of 10.21 Per Cent

This total represented a gain of $691,048.63, or 10.21 per cent, over the 1937 assessment roll, and $698,009.72, or 10.32 per cent, more than the amount assessed in 1936.

"If the insurance roll may be taken as a fairly constant barometer of business conditions in California, it would appear that economically the state is pulling steadily toward more firm ground," Bonelli said.

Classifications Given

Board members pointed out that last year's tax roll was not completely indicative, however, of the business of the previous year, inasmuch as court decisions and new laws granted certain companies additional deductions which previously had been included in the assessment roll.

The 1938 tax roll included: General insurance—$7,354,331.76, ocean marine, $8,203.42, and retaliatory, $96,986.12.

Mixing Bowl

BY ANN MEREDITH

Your family will rise up and bless you if you shush that heavy meals out the back door and replace the evening meal with cool looking salads, appetizing hot rolls, toast or muffins, fruit with cream and sugar for dessert—maybe cake—and a choice of iced drinks.

The salad must look cool, but still be a trifle hefty, since it is the main dish. I suggest this one: Green Supper Salad With Crab Dressing.

Rub a big salad bowl with garlic. Fill the bowl with all sorts of salad greens, torn in small pieces. Put in green onions and sliced radishes and cucumbers, some canned asparagus tips, and set the bowl in refrigerator to chill until ready to serve. In meantime, prepare this luscious dressing: combine 1 pound fresh crab flaked with 1 large avocado, diced, 1 cup freshly cooked green peas, lots of minced parsley, and the juice of a lemon. Chill this until meal time. At serving time, drizzle two big spoonfuls of olive oil over salad greens, life and mix with two forks, then add wine vinegar, salt, pepper and cayenne to taste. Mix the crab dressing with creamy mayonnaise and spread it nicely over the top of the salad greens. Serve from the bowl and see that each person gets his rightful share of the crab dressing.

An interesting recipe accompanied by a return-addressed stamped envelope are what we ask for our fine fat Calory List. If you are on the verge of sending for the diet sheet, be sure and ask for the Calory List, too...birds can't fly with one wing, y'know.

TODAY'S RECIPES

Boned Stuffed Shoulder of Lamb
1 shoulder cut of lamb, bone removed.
3 or 4 cups of dressing.
Seasoned flour and butter or bacon fat.

For dressing, grate the soft part of a small loaf of stale bread and combine with chopped onion, 1 cup minced parsley, a little sage, salt and pepper. Beat an egg, mix with 1 cup milk and use to moisten the dressing. Press dressing into pocket in meat, sew edges, dredge meat with flour and place in shallow pan. Brown in a very hot oven, baste with butter and hot water, reduce heat after 20 minutes and roast until the meat is very tender (about 2 hours). Take up meat and make gravy with pan drippings.

When the lamb is almost done, make up the dough for the fruit roll.

Loganberry Roll
Sift 1½ cups flour with ½ cup sugar, 1 tsp salt.
2 tps. baking powder.
Beat 1 egg and combine with 1 cup milk and 4 tbsps melted butter.
Wash 2 baskets of loganberries, and dredge with 1 cup sugar.
A trifle more milk may be required for the dough. It should be a soft biscuit dough. Knead lightly, roll out to make a thin square, spread with sugared berries, roll up and place on a buttered pan. Sift sugar over roll, dot with butter and bake in a oven 20 minutes, reduce heat and bake 10 or 15 minutes longer. Slice and serve with thin cream. Blackberries or raspberries may replace the logans.

Prodigal Yachtsmen Return With 'Borrowed' Vessel

Three Santa Cruz, Calif., youths who "borrowed" the yacht Tira for a cruise to the South Seas, ran afoul of the law when they put in at Puerto Vallarta, Mexico, 1000 miles houth. They were held on complaint of the yacht's owner, Lew Foote, who flew to the Mexican port to return the youths and his boat. And here's the quartet when they landed at Los Angeles, left to right: William Grace, 16; Lyle Tara, 17; James Henninger, 17, and Foote.

GOVERNMENT SERVICE AIMS AT NATION OF "CONTENTED COWS"

WASHINGTON, July 19.—(UP)—The department of agriculture announced today that it is well on the way toward its goal of a nation of contented cows.

The farm security administration, planning a $100,000,000 program to add to the contentment of cows, has adopted the following slogan: "No cow shall walk more than two miles for a drink."

Build Reservoirs

FSA has completed construction of 2170 water reservoirs on western ranges and plans to build more. Officials believe that any cow suffering from thirst should not be required to walk an unduly long distance to quench it. She wouldn't be contented.

FSA placed their "cow relief" program before federal relief officials in supporting claims to $3,000,000 voted by congress in the recovery-relief bill. The administration has $5,000,000 from the Bankhead-Jones act. Some $82,000,000 for most cows, the FSA has built 1027 dams. In Colorado 503 dams have been built; in Wyoming 233; South Dakota 236; in New Mexico 355; in North Dakota, 83 and in Nevada 33.

The meeting, held under auspices of the Unitarian church in the auditorium of the building at Eighth and Bush, open at 7:45 p. m. each Tuesday evening with a brief piano recital, played by William Beeman. The meeting is called to order by the minister, the Rev. Julia N. Budlong.

The idea still persists today in many sections that cats will suffocate a sleeping child by sucking its breath. Such a belief is not based on fact, but, perhaps on the fact that cats do like to sit on the chest of a sleeping person, which, in the case of babies, makes breathing difficult.

U. S. DRIVE TO HIT DEAFNESS

A broad program of public education which, it is hoped will improve the social and economic life of the 2,000,000 deafened persons in the United States was launched last week with the formation of the National Better Hearing Institute, a non-profit organization which will maintain national headquarters at 369 Lexington avenue New York City, it was announced here today.

The institute according to the announcement, will co-operate with existing social educational and government agencies working in the interests of the hard of hearing and will function as a public information service in "placing before the greatest possible number of people in the United States practical, conservative and helpful facts which will aid in the solution of personal hearing problems and the conservation of hearing."

"From the practical standpoint of scientific knowledge, the great majority of the hearing problems which are undermining the business and social interests of millions of Americans are no more involved or difficult of solution than the common cases of faulty eyesight which are correctable by eyeglasses," the announcement said.

STATUS OF MARRIED MINORS SAME UNDER STATE RUM LAW

Marriage does not change the status of minors as far as application of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Act to them is concerned, local officials of the state board of equalization announced here today.

Married minors of either sex, who purchase or consume alcoholic beverages are guilty of a misdemeanor and selling or giving alcoholic beverages to them is likewise a misdemeanor.

The belief held by some married minors that the law does not apply to them is a danger one, William G. Bonelli, board member from this district points out. Files

J. C. BID MUST MEET DEADLINE

Santa Ana must submit an application within the next 40 days should it desire PWA aid for the proposed union junior college project for southern Orange county, it was learned today at the Public Works Administration, according to a dispatch to The Register from Washington, D. C.

PWA officials said that as yet no application for such a project has been received in Washington and should local interests desire consideration for federal aid, the request should be in before Sept. 1.

Could Be Available

This date has been set as the deadline for the submission of applications under the new public works program.

Should the proposed project be found to be sound by the legal, engineering and financial examining divisions of the Public Works Administration, a grant to cover up to 45 per cent of the total cost of the junior college could be made available.

There are already on file with the Public Works Administration applications requesting more money than is available for allocation under the new program and consequently the earlier new applications are submitted the better chance they will have of favorable consideration.

Brotherhood Will Convene Tonight

The Otterbein Brotherhood of the United Brethren church will hold its monthly meeting at 7:30 p. m. today at the home of John Jamison, 829 East Pine street. The topic for consideration will be "Christmas in a Changing World."

An interesting program has been prepared and as in previous meetings, there will be opportunity for general discussion. The annual election of officers will take place. Refreshments will be served.

Christian Science

"Life" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all Churches of Christ, Scientist. These words of Jesus, from John, were the Golden Text: "As the Father hath life in himself; so hath he given to the Son to have life in himself."

A Scriptural citation in the Lesson-Sermon from Revelation included the statement: "And the angel which I saw stand upon the sea and upon the earth lifted up his hand to heaven, and swore by him that liveth for ever and ever, who created heaven, and the things that therein are, and the earth, and the things that therein are, and the sea, and the things which are therein, that there should be time no longer."

Among the passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, were these words: "Chronological data are no part of the vast forever. Time-tables of birth and death are so many conspiracies against manhood and womanhood. Except for the error of measuring and limiting all that is good and beautiful, man would enjoy more than three-score years and ten and still maintain his vigor, freshness and promise. Man, governed by immortal Mind, is always beautiful and grand. Each succeeding year unfolds wisdom, beauty, and holiness."

LIBRARY LISTS ACHIEVEMENTS

While living within its income by $11,058.88 and increasing its circulation of books over last year by $5,404, the Santa Ana public library did establish several improvements, reports of Librarian Ethel Walker, Junior Department Librarian Mary Bowyer and Branch Librarian Leona Calkins, revealed last night.

The reports, covering the fiscal year ending June 30, were submitted to city council by the library board.

Income Is Analyzed
The income was listed as follows: Surplus, $6,884.70; received from city taxes, $39,370.57; fines, $1,587.99; rental of books, $625.47; and miscellaneous income, $65.80, total, $48,534.53.

Expenditures were as follows: Staff and substitute salaries, $22,842.79; janitor and substitute salaries, $1,281.50; pages' salaries, $677.98; books bought, $6,455.48; periodicals bought, $598.60; binding, $1,505.16; library of Congress cards, $94.57; supplies, $491.96; rent, $1,200; heat, $140.30; light, $572.57; miscellaneous, $418.23; insurance, $368.83; dues, $15; building and fixtures, $439.16; telephone, $297.59; and travel, $25.93, total, $37,475.65.

During the year, 349,399 books and 1,088 pictures were circulated, making a daily average for both of 973, monthly average, 29,116. The largest monthly circulation, 34,350, occurred in March.

List Federal Papers
The circulation per capita totaled 11.5, the circulation per regular borrower, 29. At the main library, adults took out 218,340 books, while juveniles read 48,512 books, and at the branch library in Julia Lathrop school, 49,916 books were read by adults, 40,542 by juveniles. Miss Walker reported 300 hours were used by the staff in checking and listing government documents; fiction re-cataloging was completed and combined with non-fiction in the cataloging system.

Music Items Added
Another major project completed was the compiling and mimeographing of numerous lists for distribution to the public, the lists being carefully selective, with annotations from 30 to 50 recent books on time topics, Miss Walker said. Thirty different subjects were covered by the lists. Between 75 and 100 music items were added during the year, and a series of exhibits shown and book talks given. Miss Walker thanked the newspapers for their cooperation.

A new and more efficient method of indexing loaned books also was established, the librarian said.

Accused of Crime

Indicted for a double murder for which another is serving a life sentence, Francis M. Carroll, above, former deputy sheriff of South Paris, Me., is pictured above waiting trial. His daughter's sweetheart, Paul Dwyer, who was arrested when the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Littlefield were found in his car, confessed to the crimes. But after Dwyer's conviction, later evidence led to the indictment of Carroll.

COMMITTEE NAMED TO OBTAIN FACTS ON SOIL EROSION AREA

A meeting of the Santa Ana canyon property owners was held recently at the St. Paul's Lutheran school at Clive to consider the possibilities of securing community action in erosion control work. W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor, acted as chairman of the meeting.

Other speakers on the program; tallment of camp activities it now appears as though Federal support will be largely restricted to organized districts. Therefore communities or districts having a soil erosion problem and desiring a program for soil erosion control started must organize districts for that purpose.

See New Agreements
Wilson pointed out that the El Toro project now is on a maintenance basis and no new agreements will be written. The work now underway will be completed and the work completed will be watched for another two years for possible improvement. Any work which falls because of faulty design or construction will be repaired and all work on the area will be to repair or supplement that already done. Consequently there appears to be little chance of securing a spike camp in the Santa Ana Canyon for the present.

J. B. Brown, irrigation specialist, University of California, outlined the provisions of the State Soil Conservation Act which provides for the formation of districts especially organized to carry on soil conservation work. With the cur-

Information furnished At the conclusion of the meeting a committee consisting of the following members were appointed to study further the feasibility of proceeding with the organization of a district: A. A. Ehmman, Nelson Visel, Ben Lemke, H. H. Gardner, H. L. Budlong, and George Lemke. Anyone wishing further information regarding the formation of a soil conservation district are invited to inquire either at the farm advisor's office, courthouse annex, or at the soil conservation office, city hall, Santa Ana.

RECORD CROWD AT HUNTINGTON BEACH

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 19.—The largest Sunday crowd ever reported here visited the beaches Sunday. The merry-makers exceeded the throngs that came for the three-day Fourth of July celebration. It was estimated by Chief Life Guard Bud Higgins that 30,000 picnicked, frolicked and basked in the sunshine or bathed in the surf.

All of the pop corn, hot dog stands and restaurants did a thriving week end business. Many attended the dances at the beach pavilion.

Although a heavy surf was running on Sunday there were no rescues and no one was injured.

Jimmie Fidler in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, July 19. — Idol Chatter: Guess Frances Farmer couldn't have hated Hollywood so much—she is building a new home here. Men I would like to meet—but never will: an actor who does not consider himself the world's greatest poker player. Now that Darryl Zanuck has proved that he can play better polo than England's lords, maybe he will be satisfied to come home and resume making better pictures. Look alike: Phyllis Welch and Margaret Sullivan.

The only thing John Barrymore will keep when he sells his famous "House of Memories" is a crystal chandelier that once belonged to Archduke Ferdinand of Austria. Wonder how Mary Astor feels when she meets George Kaufman—or does she? Studies in contrast: Annabella—on the screen an alluring siren, off-screen an out-and-out tomboy. Only things needed to make Jane Withers completely happy is permission to wear make-up. Psycho-phobias: Mary Maguire's fear of flying insects, particularly moths.

Screen tests being given race horses by several studios offer some hope that things will soon be moving faster in Hollywood. Italy wants to know what has happened to Isa Miranda, its favorite star—and so does Isa! Things I never knew till now: that Binnie Barnes used to be a mermaid in an English swimming carnival. Wouldn't it be odd if "Curtain Call," now being prepared for Kay Francis, would prove to be her last picture?

The production manager of Deanna Durbin's new picture, "That Certain Age," assures me that the Boy Scouts of America, Inc., is the toughest organization with which a studio can deal. In order to wear a Scout uniform on the screen, a boy actor must be a Scout in real life. Any scene involving the Boy Scouts, either by action or by dialogue, must first be submitted to the organization's headquarters for formal okay. The name, "Boy Scout," is copyrighted, and unauthorized use of it means a lawsuit. For this particular picture, every boy in the St. Brenda's choir had to become a Scout, since the choir represents a Boy Scout singing unit. Deanna, however, was forewarned. She is an honorary Boy Scout and an honorary Sea Scout. And, I'm told, she is the only girl in the world who has ever been given such recognition by those two organizations.

Visited the set where "The Great Waltz" is being filmed and found make-up artist Jack Dawn busy impersonating Father Time—his particular job being to rig Luise Rainer out with the wrinkles and complexion of an eighty-year-old woman. His first efforts seemed perfection to me, but Luise was harder to satisfy. Finally, after an hour spent in petty make-up changes, she admitted that "it would do." "Why so persnickety?" I demanded. "You don't know how you'll look as an old woman," she twinkled. "Maybe," was her retort. "But I know how I want to look when I'm a grandmother and this may be my only opportunity to cheat Nature!"

If you were requested to name the most important actor in Hollywood odds are that you would pick Clark Gable, Errol Flynn, Robert Taylor or some other personable young star—and be wrong. The most important of Hollywood's actors is Donald Crisp, not because his name is blazoned on theater marquees, but because it is printed, in modest type, on the Bank of America's roster of directors. Mr. Crisp is motion picture adviser to the biggest single financial institution financing production—his judgment often determines the fate of studios and producers. All in all, it is not an uncomfortable spot for an actor to occupy.

Today's bulldozer from the publicity barrage tells how an M-G-M company played a little trick on Clark Gable, who for a scene in "Too Hot to Handle" was to be buried under an avalanche of assorted debris. He was and then—according to the scribe who authored the dispatch—the entire company packed up and drove back to the studio, leaving Metro's No. 1 star to extricate himself as best he could and walk, two miles, to his dressing room. That's the part of the picture I like to dwell on—Clark Gable walking those two miles! Hmm...mm...m....

At the Paramount ranch today, Joan Parker entered her improvised dressing room, disturbed at a bat which had established residence there—and, of course, terrified the entire troupe by her blood-curdling screams. "Whatcha afraid of?" scoffed ob ubrns, after investigating. "It's only a bat." Joan glared at him indignantly. "I wasn't afraid," she snapped. "If I had been afraid I couldn't have made a sound!"

CITY ASKS STATE FOR RIVER BRIDGE

FORMAL PLEA IS SENT NORTH

A bridge "adequate to care for flood waters" was asked by city council of the state department of public works for Santa Ana boulevard last night.

Council, on motion of Councilman Joe P. Smith, seconded by Councilman Plummer Bruns, voted unanimously in favor of a resolution to be sent to Sacramento, to the state department, as a recommendation at once.

Argue Against Piling

The action followed several council meetings held immediately after the March 3 flood at which more than 100 protests were received against re-construction of the bridge on the same engineering principles as before—use of piling.

The complainants argued that a piling bridge stopped debris from flowing down the river, caused the debris to stack up against the bridge and forced the flood waters onto surrounding valuable property, damaging it.

See WPA Assistance

They recommended a span bridge which would permit the debris to flow down the river in the natural river channel. Council, in its resolution, pointed out Santa Ana cannot afford to finance such a bridge construction.

It also suggested the state might be successful in a request for WPA financial assistance.

Rotary Scouts Eager for Trip

A trip to Seattle "and all points north" awaits members of Rotary Boy Scout Troop 24 as result of their business activities during the Fourth of July selling season for firecrackers. F. P. Nickery, Jr., scoutmaster, reported last night in a "thank you" communication to city council.

The councilmen were thanked for "courtesies shown us during 1938." It would not have been possible for us to make this trip without your cooperation," the scoutmaster said. The communication was received and filed.

According to W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor, loans now are available up to $28.00 per acre; loans to citrus growers for fertilizer, water and other production costs up to $23.00 per acre; and loans for the purchase of grain seed up to $2.50 per acre. No applicant may obtain more than $400.

The vegetable loan will be due April 1, 1939, while the grain loan comes due Aug. 31, 1939. The interest rate for all loans is four per cent. Applicant must agree to apply the proceeds from the crops to retire the loan, even though the crops might be harvested before the loan is due.

Cory said that the vegetable loan is available about three months earlier than in the past. And, too, this is the first late loan for citrus growers.

Applications may be filed at the Farm Advisor's office, 211 Court House Annex, Santa Ana.

Willits Street Issue Deferred

Action on the request of Atty. Charles D. Swanner and E. B. Sprague for permission to reclaim for private use the portion of Willits street between Sullivan and the west line of Raitt street was deferred until next regular council meeting, August 1, according to an order by city council last night. Swanner asked the postponement, stating he wished to alter the amount of Willits street wanted.

He indicated the original amount asked would be reduced. The land was dedicated for street purposes 30 years ago, it was said, but never has been opened for a street. City Atty. Lew Blodgett recommended previously that council investigate thoroughly the possibility of future need for the street right-of-way before turning it back into acreage.

GOVERNMENT DOES IT!

He complained that he and others were $76.80 per month and when they first started on the job and, though still doing the same work, had been re-classified, placed in a lower grade and were getting $60.40.

Mayor Fred C. Rowland quickly explained that Santa Ana had nothing to do with setting wage scales—that the federal government did.

TEACH AMERICAN PLAN

Full support of Democracy as a way of life was promised by the board of managers who stated that "if we are to retain this American plan of life we have enjoyed since the founding of our country, we must teach it to our children by living it ourselves."

A third platform in the program was the pledge of the group to cooperate with the state board of equalization in the matter of disseminating information regarding the law which prohibits the purchase of liquor by minors.

Among those invited to serve as an advisory board of 15 members was A. J. McFadden of Santa Ana, president of the state chamber of commerce.

SEEKS WAREHOUSE FOR NEW ECONOMY

Possibility of a community warehouse in Los Angeles for local merchants which, according to its sponsor, Jack Burns, would result in the savings of hundreds of dollars will be discussed at a meeting of interested persons at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow at the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce offices.

According to Burns, freight rates are noticeably high in small amounts and if freight can be handled from one central point an appreciable saving would come to local merchants.

Burns already has established warehouses similar to the type proposed for Santa Ana merchants that have been reportedly successful for other Southern California cities.

Merry Affair Presented By Supper Hosts

Planning a Sunday night buffet supper of informal charm, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Knox staged their hospitality in the home of Mrs. Knox's mother, Mrs. Allen J. Howell, 2032 Greenleaf street.

Many flowers lent their color to the beautiful home, but especially striking was the arrangement of dahlias on the table from which the supper menu was served. For great display blossoms nodded proudly above the daintiness of small pompon dahlias in soft pastel colors. Virginia baked ham was served with the baked beans, brown bread, salad and dessert of the appetizing menu.

Small tables scattered about the room for the diners, were given distinction by the clever little figurines of Mexican workmanship used as centerpieces.

Since the evening was spent in chat, with no games program, Mrs. Knox gave prizes. Miss Dorothy Gowdy received the travel kit of manicure needs, and "shaving lotion" for the fortunate lot of Russell Abbey.

Sharing the friendly plans of the hosts were the Misses Ruth Baker, Gwen Griffin, Roberta Tuthill, Dorothy Gowdy, Messrs. Otto Grigg, Russell Abbey, James Burke of near Fresno; Kenneth VanDruff, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hales and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cartwright.

Party Honoree Showered With Various Gifts

A frequent guest here in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Leive, 2419 North Main street, Mrs. Leonard A. Dorn (Jeanne Leive) of Los Angeles is finding that recent announcement of her April marriage has occasioned a round of colorful parties.

Last night brought another of these gay post-nuptial courtesies, when Mrs. Raymond Trevorrow, 402 West Nineteenth street, called together a group of mutual school and college friends for an evening of bridge and a gift shower. Gayety was the dominant note, sounded in greetings, reminiscences and even in the garden flowers arranged so charmingly by the hostess.

The linen guest towels which Mrs. Trevorrow had selected as prize awards in bridge play, went to the honor guest, Mrs. Dorn, with high score, and her nearest competitor, Miss Mary Margaret Freeland. Prize presentation started the avalanche of gifts, for the guests had chosen pretty things in wide variety with which to shower the bride.

In serving refreshments as conclusion to the enjoyable evening, Mrs. Trevorrow, assisted by Mrs. William Comito, arranged the linen-spread tables with clusters of gardenias.

Her guests included with Mrs. Dorn and her mother, Mrs. Leive, Mrs. F. C. Hall, Mrs. Merwin Carmel, Mrs. William Comito, Mrs. Merrill Bauer of this city; Mrs. Richard Evans, Miss Eulabelle Smith, Miss Mildred Rohrs of Orange; Miss Mary Margaret Freeland and Miss Dolores Fletcher of Pomona.

Mrs. Dorn is dividing her time this summer between her girlhood home here and Los Angeles where Mr. Dorn is in summer session at University of Southern California. They will make their home in Coronado where both taught last year and where Mr. Dorn will resume his coaching duties with the opening of the school year.

Perry Frederick Schrock, and his family, will be expressed by First Congregational church members tomorrow night when they are inviting the membership and friends to a reception to be held at 8 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Ida Waters and Mrs. J. H. Grandy, 620 Spurgeon street.

This was the first appearance of the baby at a family function.

Present were H. E. Hammett, Long Beach, a son; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Yoder and Mr. and Mrs. Lymann Nelson, of Santa Ana, sons-in-law and daughters, little Ronald Nelson and Mr. and Mrs. Hammett.

COMUS CLUB PICNIC

Quite as picnic-minded as other club organizations, Comus club will seek Irvine park Thursday night, where its members, providing their own picnic suppers and the necessary table service, will commandeer several of the big tables near the pavilion. All members have been informed that coffee and dessert will be provided by the committee in charge. They are asked to meet at 6:30 o'clock at the tables, so that all will be ready to join in dancing in the after-supper hours. They have reserved the pavilion for the occasion.

Irvine Park is Setting For Pleasant Picnic Of B. P. W. Club

Entering with enthusiasm into plans of recreation and health committee members for a park party. Business and Professional Women late yesterday afternoon left their various places of employment and bled themselves to Irvine Park for the festive affair.

Although the chairman, Miss Harriet Whidden, and several committee members were absent on vacation travels, their plans were so well formulated and put into effect by remaining members that there was no hitch in the proceedings. This group, consisting of the Misses Vanche Plumb, Lula Finley, Artie Cleaveland, Henrietta Foster, Effie White, Lana Brokaw, Janet Humphrey, Abby Chapman and Lena Thomas, arranged for ample picnic fare to accompany the steaks which each member provided and broiled to her own taste over one of the park grills.

The committee arranged the tables, and the pungent aroma of the alder blossoms which they massed with decorative effect, was a pleasing touch to the al fresco affair beneath the sheltering branches of the sycamore trees interlacing above the tables.

When the last slice of fried watermelon was consumed, Miss Ethel Coffman called her group together to hear sparkling accounts of the district convalescence of the preceding day in Laguna Beach. Members felt a justifiable pride in the success of this all-day event, the first under the district presidency of Miss Dorothy Decker, member of Santa Ana club.

A note of greeting was read from Mrs. Edith Thatcher, now on a summer trip to Ohio and points farther east, whose duties as club president are being so capably executed by Miss Coffman.

Special guests sharing the evening included Mrs. Carmie Zimmerman, Orange county librarian; Mrs. Benjamin Schlegel, Miss Chloe Foster, Miss Harriett Howard and her niece, Miss Annette Howard, Miss Irene McPaul, Altrusa club president; Miss Louise Chapman and Miss Gladys Groves of Drexel, Mo.

Clubwomen present were the Misses Ethel Coffman, Janet Humphrey, Lula B. Finley, Ella Vieze, Louise Kaiser, Alma Karlsson, Damaris Beaman, Juanita Snyder, Effie White, Helen Gallagher, Vanche Plumb, Lena Thomas, Mary Hilyard, Dorothy Decker, Lana Brokaw, Martha Whitson, Artie Cleaveland, Henrietta Foster, Mary Howard, Abby Chapman, Mesdames Hazel Northcross, Laura McNaught, Olivia Clark, Marie Fowler, Anita Alexander, Cora Prather, Ethel Hedrick and Eleanor Elliott.

ENJOYABLE AFFAIR

When the Bennie Ostermans entertained a little group of Santa Ana friends Sunday afternoon and evening in their ranch home at El Toro, they had such attractions to offer as swimming in their big pool, horseback riding, badminton and similar sports, to say nothing of the luscious supper menu prepared by Mrs. Osterman.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fernandez, Mr. and Mrs. J. Riley Huber and Mr. and Mrs. Ray R. Hochstrasser comprised the group. The hospitality of the Ostermans made the afternoon's amusement program sharpened already lustrous appetites for the toothsome fried chicken menu served in the airy big play room which is one of the garden's charms.

Charming Garden Used For Entertaining Dinner Guests

Dahlias and zinnias in brilliant shades were used in decorating the table for a garden dinner given last evening at the George S. Smith home, 916 French street, with Mrs. Dama Smith as hostess. The lovely garden with its beds of ferns and tuberous begonias and the cool shade of two great avocado trees, furnished ideal setting for the event. Roses were used in decking the rooms of the home where the guests adjourned from the garden for an evening of chat.

Present at the pleasant affair were the hostess, Mrs. Dama Smith, Mr. and Mrs. George S. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Smith, of Vasco; Mr. and Mrs. Homer Peak of Santa Monica and son, Arnold Peak, and his fiancée, Miss Lucile Jones of Westwood; Mr. and Mrs. Basil Smith and Mrs. Jennie Peak, Santa Ana. Mrs. Homer Peak will be remembered as Miss Goldie Smith.

SERIAL STORY INTERNE TROUBLE

BY ELINORE COWAN STONE

COPYRIGHT, 1938, NEA SERVICE, INC.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
TRAN DEARBORN—heroine, student nurse. She ran into love and trouble when she met DR. BOB BENCHLEY—hero, handsome young intern. He had trouble, too, keeping up with brilliant DR. STEPHEN SARGENT—head surgeon. Dr. Sargent's problem was something else again.

Yesterday: Tran was success but began to wonder about Dr. Benchley. Then the thing happened which threatened to change her world completely.

CHAPTER XI

TRAN had started awake that morning thinking, "This is the day!"

It was to have been the culmination of the dreams of almost two years. For today she was to help at one of Dr. Stephen Sargent's operations.

True, she had worked under several of the other surgeons before—but that was not the same.

In honor of the occasion, Tran had had a shampoo, a fingerwave and a manicure. Not that any one would know the difference, but having done so gave her an uplifted feeling of being fit and clean and ready, like a priestess performing cleansing rites before a sacrifice.

Tran's mood of exaltation had been momentarily jarred as she hurried along a corridor that morning by the sight of Dr. Benchley and his pretty widow, coming together from one of the private rooms. . . . The charming Mrs. Maitland seemed to have a number of friends who were patients these days.

Something intimately possessive in the way she rested a hand on Bob's sleeve and laughed up at his face surprised Tran into a sudden unreasonable fury of resentment.

She reminded herself with a shrug, "Well, I could have had him if I'd liked, couldn't I? I've got what I did want, haven't I?"

BUT

just then Mrs. Maitland turned and called over her shoulder with the exaggerated graciousness of one who makes a rite of being always kind to inferiors, "Oh, nurse—won't you have them call my car as you pass the office? I'm in rather a hurry."

"So sorry, but I'm not going that way," Tran answered with what she hoped was just the right touch of tolerant amusement to point the difference between a busy professional woman and a mere social butterfly, "and I'm in rather a hurry, myself. Nurses, you know, are slaves to the clock."

Young Dr. Benchley glanced swiftly from one to the other with a manner at first startled; then, as his eyes came to rest on Tran, faintly amused.

Congratulating himself on his happy escape, Tran thought, Well, he's not the only one.

The catastrophe came shortly after the operation was over. Toward the end, a violent wind and electrical storm had blown up. Even the serenely beautiful Miss Miller, who was handling the sutures, glanced up apprehensively once or twice when small objects hurtled by the windows or static crackled in the hushed room with each blinding flash of lightning.

When it was over, and the patient had been wheeled away, only Dr. Sargent, Miss Miller, and Tran remained—Miss Miller because Dr. Sargent had detained her, Tran, because there were still things she had to do.

Moving about between the instrument table and the service room, Tran heard Miss Miller say, "Congratulations, Doctor. No one but you could have done that. He'll live, don't you think?"

She heard Top Sarge reply a little wearily, "And what, in God's name, has the poor devil to live for? . . . This is the kind of case that makes a surgeon feel like a criminal."

"But the operation was successful," Tran said.

"The operation? . . . Is that all you ever think of, Katherine? After all, patients are human beings, you know."

TRAN didn't mean to listen, but they seemed to have forgotten her. They were standing together by a window, against a stormy background of wind-swayed trees and dashing rain—standing with the look of two who instinctively drew together, yet in the final resolution were left always apart.

Miss Miller's low, even voice said something else that Tran did not catch, and Dr. Sargent answered almost bitterly, "Yes, and even surgeons are sometimes human beings, Katherine. . . . You wouldn't like that, would you? You like flesh and blood machines, always tuned to the highest efficiency. I often wonder—"

It was then that the rending crash came. A splintered bulk of tree trunk and wet leaves hurtled through the heavy window pane, and shattered glass fell in every direction.

Miss Miller cried out in a voice not her own, "Stephen—your arm!"

Dr. Sargent just stood, his left hand clasped above his right elbow, while blood spurted from a deep cut below.

After that first shocked outcry, Miss Miller went into action with her usual swift, sure poise, her voice low and even in command, her face a smooth mask of quiet, self-assured competence, her slim hands working faultlessly as she applied a tourniquet and dispatched Tran to summon a doctor. Meantime, Stephen Sargent sat with a face like granite, his eyes on the fingers of that right hand which had performed so many daring miracles—fingers that now hung lax and helpless, and would not move, no matter how hard he tried to flex them.

When Miss Miller said in her clear, even voice, "As soon as the shock wears off, the nerve will come to life," he only lifted bleak eyes and said with bitter amusement, "Your bedside technique is as perfect as ever, Miss Miller."

Just then Dr. Benchley hurried in with a fresh nurse; and Miss Miller turned and walked with her erect, light step out of the room. It was a moment before Tran followed.

WHEN she did go into the service room beyond, Katherine Miller, "the icicle," stood, leaning against a cupboard door, her face buried against her bent arm, her body writhed with sobs.

"His arm!" she was moaning. "Oh, no! I couldn't bear that! . . . In another year he would have been famous. People would have been coming to Saint Vincent's from all over the country—"

"Famous! Saint Vincent's! . . . You can't bear it?" Tran snapped before she could remember to bite her cheeks. "And what about you? If he can't operate any more, it will kill him—or worse. . . . Why don't you try thinking about him for a change?"

Miss Miller whirled upon her, her blue eyes blazing through tears.

"You little fool!" she cried. "What else would I be thinking about?"

"Then for heaven's sake," Tran said hardly, "go and do something about it. Let him see how you feel. You're the only one who can do him any good now."

"But I—I can't!" Amazingly the correct Miss Miller was crying out in the thin, high voice of a frightened child. "He's so—I'm afraid. . . . You know what he's like."

"Why should you be afraid of him if I'm not?" Tran demanded. "He's crazy about you. Any one with eyes can see that. If he hasn't told you, it's probably because he thinks—like a lot of other people around here—that you're well, not quite human. . . . You can't blame him, you know, the way you go around acting like a frozen plaster saint. . . . For heaven's sake, if you really want him to know that you're actually alive, with feelings like the rest of us, go and tell him so now, while you look like it for the first time in your life!"

Ohioans Complimented At Farewell Dinner Before Departure

Climaxing the succession of gay family gatherings which have been in effect during the Southern visit of the William C. Slaters of Cleveland, Ohio, was the dinner party at which their hosts, the Guy Gilberts, 529 South Parton street, entertained Sunday night at the Country club.

Mrs. Gilbert had planned her table decorations on a glistening white theme, applied to flowers and tapers alike. Place cards were written for the hosts and for Mr. and Mrs. Slater, guests of honor, the Paul Gilberts, the Robert Gilberts, Miss Cora Kurlie, and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Bassett. The party remained at the clubhouse to enjoy the usual Sunday night program of games and music.

Mr. and Mrs. Slater have been absent from their Ohio home for three months, part of which time was spent in Denver and Colorado Springs. They have been in Santa Ana with the Gilberts for the past six weeks, and concluded their visit this morning with departure for San Francisco. They plan to visit Houston, New Orleans and Chicago on their leisurely homeward journey.

All Day Meeting

An interesting business and program meeting with noon-day picnic luncheon was shared Thursday by women of United Brethren Missionary society in the G. R. Grout home in Orange.

Mrs. Winnie Sidnam led the devotional period on the morning program, and spoke of existing needs in the mission field. This was just in advance of the picnic hour when members and guests to the number of 34, gathered around tables arranged in the shady garden.

"Rural Life Around the World" was the topic of the afternoon study session led by Mrs. Royal Hager. Aiding her on the program developed in interesting and informative manner were Mesdames Maude Hackett, Keith Noble, Mr. Stratton, Alice Wiles, Nettie Davis, Ira Jackson, Wesley Duncan, E. E. Johnson and Winnie Sidnam.

During the business meeting led by the president, Mrs. Henry Sands, plans were discussed for the annual picnic.

ON MEXICAN THEME
Miss Marion Borchard was hostess to members of her bridge club Saturday evening at a tamale supper given at her home, 423 East Chestnut street. A bright Mexican pottery service was used and the gay colors were reflected in the late summer flowers which centered the table. A Spanish motif was found in the attractive place cards and tallies for the bridge game which followed. Mrs. E. F. Borchard assisted her daughter.

Prizes went to Miss Mary Ashmore and Miss Carolyn Borchard. Others present were Miss Wilma Borchard, Miss Evelyn Bennett, Miss Ellen Gibbs, Miss Marjorie Platt and Miss Dorothy Eddy. Miss Ashmore is from New Orleans and is a house guest of Miss Platt.

BEACH COUNCIL APPROVES HIGHWAY PLAN

VOTES TO BUY SEVERAL LOTS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 19.—The city council approved the proposed plan of constructing about three blocks of highway to make an extension to Frankfort avenue that would connect the East side of the city directly with the west side at Fifth street. The total cost is estimated at $18,000.

Under the proposed plan Frankfort avenue would be made to cut diagonally across properties from Alabama avenue to Fifth street. Among the properties would be the old home site of W. R. McKee, lots of Dennie Hallley, properties of the Huntington Beach company and others between Lake and Main streets. The property costs are estimated at $11,165.

In addition a right-of-way would be needed across the Pacific Electric tracks. The new thoroughfare would intersect Lake avenue near Magnolia and run across Main street.

Options have been secured on all of the properties with the exception of lots belonging to one property owner. The railroad right-of-way is now being sought. Councilman T. E. Talbert talked on the subject and showed his preference for making a large intersection at Alabama and Frankfort avenues to speed up traffic between Alabama and Main streets. He pointed out that the city would save a large amount of gasoline tax funds that could be used in paving Alabama, Huntington and California streets.

The city allowed $1920 to the chamber of commerce for operating expenses between July 1, 1938 and June 30, 1939.

A new city truck was ordered from W. H. Hartley. The city allowed $160 to give the dance hall floor in the beach pavilion another finishing coat. The floor had just been refinished by Jacobson, the contractor.

City Gives $200 To Guardsmen

Following a custom of past years, city council last night donated $200 to Company L, Third battalion, 155th Infantry of the National Guard, for its mess fund to be expended during the summer training period of the local group at San Luis Obispo camp.

Request for the donation, to be used for food purchases, was made by Capt. Robert P. Kellogg. Motion for granting the sum was made by Councilman William Penn, seconded by Councilman Plummer Bruns. Bruns pointed out the fact that the group had given the community "great" service during this year's emergency flood period.

All Quiet At Arizona Prison

FLORENCE, Ariz., July 19.—(UP)—The Arizona national guard maintained its watch on convicts at the state prison today and officials reported all was quiet at the military-controlled institution. Capt. Walter Tweedy, commander of the guardsmen, sent to prison by an emergency decree of Gov. R. C. Stanford to halt a disastrous series of twenty escapes, said he believed the crisis was over.

ANNUAL HOME COMING DAY BRINGS MANY TO SERVICES

WINTERSBURG, July 19.—Old friend greeted old friend at Sunday's annual "Home Coming" day sponsored by Wintersburg Methodist church, the program of which included a full day's program of services, basket luncheon at noon in the church social hall and periods for visiting. Large crowds attended each of the three services, the morning, afternoon and 5 o'clock Vesper service, with several hundreds of persons registering throughout the day.

Four former pastors, Rev. D. number, "Open the Gates of the Temple" with flute obligato by Dorothy Murdy and Miss Thoro Quayle at the piano was sung as the offertory number by John Murdy.

Among the former members of the local congregation who returned for the home-coming day were besides the pastors and their families already mentioned: Mrs. Mabel Shaffer Haptonstall, San Diego; Mrs. Henry Winters, El Modena; Mrs. Viola Walton Overholtzer, LaVerne; Mr. and Mrs. James Daddux, Anaheim; Mrs. Ellen Sharrot Ufford, Los Angeles; Mrs. Gladys Barnes Pryor and family, Garden Grove; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bucher and family, Cucamonga; Mrs. Fern Bradbury Hall, Los Angeles; Mrs. Lela James Whorton and Mr. Whorton of Laguna Beach; Mrs. Ethel Waters Crane and family, Westminster; Mrs. Grace Shaffer Collins, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Horace Moore, ElModena; Mrs. Alice Willmarth Nagel and husband, Rev. Nagel of Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Powell, Colton; Mrs. Mary Gothard, Buchanan and Mr. Buchanan, Los Angeles; Mrs. Ellen Gothard, Los Angeles; Sebastian, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Gothard and family, Buena Park; Ralph Chaffee, Garden Grove.

At the Vesper hour was followed by the building of the present church. The absence of the Rev. W. A. Metson who was to speak at the Vesper hour was regretted, and Rev. Quayle, present pastor, preached at that hour in his place. Rev. Smith had the morning service, while in the afternoon Rev. Willmarth, Rev. Thompson and Rev. Dundas each offered short talks. Special music for the three services included numbers by Charles Overholtzer of La Verne; vocal numbers by Mr. Saxton of Whittier in the afternoon, and in the morning a special choir number and solo.

Protest Hearing Notices Posted

Although City Zoning Adviser Gordon Whitnall and city planning commissioners recommended against it, city council last night ordered protest hearing notices posted at the northeast corner of Kelson drive and Beverly place where John A. Stiles wishes to establish a duplex.

Whitnall and the commissioners recommended keeping the area as at present, for exclusive use of single-family dwellers. Councilman Bruns reported plans for the construction are such that the duplex would not be "out of keeping" with the residential character of the vicinity. A protest hearing was set for August 1, 7:30 p. m. in council chamber.

ZONING APPEAL HEARD

R. R. Pulliam, R. E. Highley and T. F. Crawford, trustees of the Baptist church, last night appealed to city council for permission to have the residential zone on the southeast corner of Walnut and Sycamore re-zoned to permit construction of a church. The lot there is 100 by 125 feet, they said. Council ordered the city engineer to post notices for a public protest hearing to be held at next meeting, Aug. 1.

GETS CONCESSION

Fred E. Smith, business manager of the city garage baseball team, last night was granted permission to sell soft drinks and ice cream from a booth at Santiago park during the afternoon and night of the city employees' annual picnic, July 23. Smith said money obtained from the sales would be used in buying team equipment. City council granted the permit.

GROUP ANNOUNCES MOVIE SELECTIONS

Announcement was made today of selections of moving pictures of the month recommended and approved by the Southern California Council Federated Churchwomen by Mrs. James L. Allen.

Four pictures were selected as the best of the month: "White Banners," "Algers," "Always Goodbye," and "Yellow Jack." Under those listed for the family included "My Bill," "Young Fugitives," "Keep Smiling," "Pride of the West," and "Cowboy from Brooklyn."

The churchwomen consider "Having a Wonderful Time" and "Speed to Burn," a "waste of time," according to Mrs. Allen. Under the heading of mystery and crime the group recommends "Mysterious Mr. Moto," "The Amazing Dr. Clitterhouse," "You and Me," "Passport Husband," "Crime Ring," "Border G-Men," "When Were You Born?" and "Prison Farm."

For mature audiences the following pictures are recommended: "Woman Against Woman," "The Toy Wife," "Wives Under Suspicion," "The Rage of Paris," "The Gaiety Girls," "Holiday," "Three Blind Mice," and "Josette." Recommended for demonstrating the futility of war are "Blockade" and "Three Comrades."

The churchwomen labeled as "mediocre" "Tropic Holiday," "Blonds Cheat," and "Danger in the Air."

Hitch Hiking Reids Near Goal

DALLAS, Tex., July 19.—(UP)—Mr. and Mrs. John H. Reid and their 13 months old daughter, Shirley Jean, of Celeste, Tex., neared the end of a 4200 mile hitch hiking tour today.

The Reids moved on to Celeste and a job for him promised by Gov. James V. Allred of Texas. They finished the last long lap of their three weeks' hitch hike from Los Angeles, Calif., with a "hitch" that brought them from Abilene, Tex., into Dallas last night.

The Reids left Celeste last May 12 hoping to be able to find a job in California. When they reached Los Angeles and Reid was unable to find work, their method of hitch hiking and pushing Shirley Jean along in her baby carriage brought them publicity.

Hearing of their plight, Allred promised Reid work if they would return to Texas.

CHURCH TO OPEN DRIVE

Privilege of conducting a six or eight week's campaign to raise approximately $900 for relief care and uplift work was granted by city council last night to S. T. Borg, pastor of the Seventh Day Adventist church, 15th and Sycamore streets. The church has conducted such a campaign annually for several years.

FLOOD LEVEES URGED IN PLEA

W. C. Mauerhan, of Katella, and E. C. Conger, of Olive, again were before the county supervisors today urging the board to "do something" about rebuilding flood levees on the Santa Ana river.

They were told that no word has been received as yet from Sacramento regarding money expected from the state's emergency fund for the purpose. Such word may come at any time, the board stated.

Wants to Know
Conger remarked that the estimated cost of $770,000, even if it was necessary to supply it locally, would be cheap protection against another flood. He called attention to a Los Angeles newspaper report that Los Angeles county had obtained $500,000 for flood protection, and wanted to know how Los Angeles could get it.

Speaker Stresses Thoughtfulness

Declaring that "thoughtfulness for others" was one of the finest definitions of Rotary that he knew, Paul Rieger, of Berkeley, today urged members of the local club to hold to their high ideals and assist the youth of the community in "making the right start in life."

Active in boy's work throughout the state, Rieger is well known in Santa Ana and Orange counties. Program Chairman William Spurgeon, Jr., opened the program with the presentation of a trio composed of Betty Jane Ward, Margaret Davis, and Ann Wetherall, who sang several selections. Miss Ruth Armstrong accompanied the singers.

Lupe Velez Seeks Divorce

HOLLYWOOD, July 19.—(UP)—Lupe Velez was getting ready to sue Johnny (Tarzan) Weissmuller for divorce again today. This time, according to reports, the peppery Mexican actress means it. A property settlement has been drawn up, according to the couple's business manager, B. C. Ross, and as soon as it is signed by both parties, Miss Velez will file a suit for divorce. She will charge cruelty, the standard grounds for covering a multitude of disagreements in Hollywood, Ross said.

FIVE ASK DIVORCES

Five divorce suits were on file today in superior court as follows: May E. Dowler against Winton E. Dowler, charging desertion; Wilma Huntley against Silas Fulton Huntley, charging habitual intemperance and cruelty; Frances M. McKean against Robert M. McKean, desertion; Doris J. TEMPERATURES TO FALL

SACRAMENTO, July 19.—(UP)—Relief from temperatures which touched 100 for the first time this year in Sacramento was promised by the weather bureau today.

The mercury registered 104 yesterday for the season's hottest day, but forecasters predicted "not so warm" in the lower valley today.

Chapmans Sue for $15,415

William J. Chapman and Lois Chapman, of Orange, today asked superior court for a $15,415 damage judgment against Robert A. Miller and Anita Miller, for the death of their son, William Jr., aged 3, in a traffic crash at Palm and Olive streets, Orange, last May 24.

City Studies Oil Company Proposal

Request of the Standard Oil company of California for permit to improve its property at the southeast corner of Chestnut and Main and extend the curb entrance to the place, a service station, was taken under advisement by city council last night.

The company, through A. P. Johnson, district sales manager, advised that they plan to remove all of the old buildings at the location and replace them with a modernistic service station and equipment. Johnson asked permission to extend the Main street approach by 24 feet; extend the west approach on Chestnut, 14 feet easterly and to construct one new, 30-foot approach on Chestnut.

Brea Man Guilty In Morals Case

Clayton Russell, 65-year-old Brea man, charged with committing a "morals" offense against a four-year-old Brea girl, pleaded guilty before Judge Kenneth Morrison in Santa Ana justice court today and was certified to superior court for passing of sentence.

Passing of sentence was scheduled for July 29 at 10 a. m.

PLUMBING IRK COUNTY AGAIN

Efforts by members of the plumbing trade to procure adoption of amendments to the county plumbing ordinance to ease what they claim is a constitutional defect in the present ordinance which exempts the fourth supervisor district from its provisions, were renewed today before the county supervisors, but no action was taken, although two supervisors, E. West and Harry Riley, demanded inclusion of the fourth district in the jurisdiction of the ordinance.

Supervisor John Mitchell, committeeman on the matter, recommended against the proposed amendment, saying that ranchers whose plumbing affected nobody but themselves, were against regulation sought by the plumbers. The farm bureau opposes it, and the building inspector does not favor it at this time, said Mitchell.

Talks on Enforcement
Attorney Leo Fris, representing the plumbers, mentioned that the amendment would make the ordinance enforceable. Chairman William Smith remarked that no question of enforcement has been raised during the years that the ordinance has existed.

Supervisor West said his district was now inclined to object to the ordinance, since the fourth district is exempt and Smith observed that maybe West's district doesn't want it either. Smith and Mitchell said that the board merely had tried to give the people what they wanted, not what the plumbing trade wanted.

Matter Dismissed
Riley said if the present ordinance is a bad ordinance it should be rescinded for the entire county; if it is good it should include the fourth district. "Any ordinance should apply to all territory alike," he said.

"Then you'd better change your hog ordinance and let the hog ranches into the middle of your towns," said Smith.

Nobody made a motion, so Chairman Smith finally dismissed the matter.

Roque Devotees Ask More Courts

O. S. Johnson, of 415 1-2 North Sycamore and other members of the local Roque club, want more Roque courts established by the city in city parks, Johnson informed city council last night.

Johnson suggested council place several more Roque courts in city parks and particularly, one at Birch park. He said the club could be given considerable financial assistance for the installation. The request was referred to the park board for recommendation and report.

MAN'S ESTATE

It's great to watch the young folks coming up—folks young in years or young in social development. But you can't help feeling just a little sad sometimes.

Consider the Moros, the old pirates, head-hunters, and runners-amok of the Sulu archipelago. The Moros, you discover from a descriptive news report, are coming of age almost in the twinkling of an eye. They're mild as milk—practically—and fools for plumbing and conferences and such.

They turn out razor-edged crises now not for cranium-lobbing but for sale, at a fancy fee, to the tourists. Blood-thirsty benders have given way to a Saturday night trip to the movies to see the glamorous stars. The only danger of trekking into the jungles these days is that you run into so many cigarette-moochers, so it is said. A veteran judge of the territory says whereas most of his cases used to be banditry and homicide they're now squabbles over property boundaries and rights-of-way.

But let's not be too quick to condemn—probably they'll turn out all right in the end.

GOODWILL WORKERS

If you find it difficult to explain the meaning of war to your son, and its causes, you might not do so badly to refer him to a couple of stories in a recent issue of The Register.

One described the ceremonies held to mark the completion of reconstruction work on a church. The original structure was built in the ninth century, and rebuilt 200 years later. It was destroyed by fire then, and it took 200 years to build it again. It burned a second time, and then it took 35 years to restore it.

Then, one day, nearly 400 years later, shellfire turned it into a ruin again, in the space of a few hours. It was shelled almost daily thereafter for four years. The fortunes of the wealthy, the pennies of school children, the labor of thousands restored it again in 20 years' time. The church referred to, of course, is Rheims Cathedral in France.

The other story that appeared on the same day as the one about the cathedral concerned a group of adventurous men intent on building a decent civilization. They say they hope to establish an International Goodwill Settlement. They're going off to a remote little island in the South Seas to do it.

NATIONAL TRANSFUSION

To many who were born and brought up in this country, the priceless privilege of American citizenship is a commonplace. We don't think about it. We take little interest in politics; we exercise little of that eternal vigilance which is the price of liberty.

But not so to the 2016 shining-eyed people who gathered at Goauga Lake near Cleveland a little while back to receive diplomas certifying their new-citizen status. They were foreign-born residents of the Cleveland neighborhood, and their pride in their new status shown in every face as the diplomas were presented. The enthusiasm, the evident devotion of the new citizens gave good assurance that no foreign propaganda is going to touch them.

America welcomes such new citizens. In them, American ideals, freshly taught and espoused anew, often have their brightest re-incarnation.

For in Cleveland this process is not left to hit-or-miss formality in a grubby courtroom. A Citizens' Bureau, headed by prominent citizens, offers constant advice and help to aliens in problems of naturalization. It teaches and leads, and makes of the Americanization process a dignified and beautiful thing.

THIS MAN CORRIGAN

America likes its heroes casual, and that's the way it has them.

Among the latest addition to the gallery of idols is a man who has been called "the American tailor's despair." Howard Hughes flew the world's most elaborately equipped private plane out of New York with his coat off and his collar unbuttoned. As a concession to the modishly correct French, when he got to Le Bourget Mr. Hughes got out his coat and tie and a rather floppy felt hat.

There was another flight made about the same time by another adventurer, whose plane was as off-hand a job as Hughes' haberdashery. Douglas Corrigan, a west coast flyer who made a non-stop trip from Long Beach to New York was so very matter-of-fact about the whole thing from start to finish that nobody knew he'd done it till the day after he arrived.

And then to be just as nonchalant he took off Sunday night, ostensibly for home, but Monday morning he landed in Dublin. And brothers, that trip was no accident. Pilots just don't head West and then land East across the ocean without knowing it.

The ship used on the trip from Long Beach and then to Ireland was nine years old. It had almost none of the instruments that are considered indispensable today. It didn't even have a radio, just a compass for direction. Corrigan didn't bother to take a chute along. He landed in Dublin with 30 gallons of gasoline in his tanks. The tanks were piled in the forward part of the plane and blocked his vision. When he wanted to check on where he was going he turned the ship sideways and peered out the window.

Corrigan's flight didn't add a chapter to the history of aviation, but it certainly added a bright footnote.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—For many months this and other columns have been rampant with implications that the Roosevelt administration through many of its "advisers" is seeking to direct the activities of industry, to control markets, to replace the judgments of our competitive markets by "centralized planning" by government. This column has even gone so far as to team up the administration "advisers" into opposing groups competing for the President's ear, those who have faith in competitive enterprise and those who want to supplant a free economic system with government direction.

Why every government economist who has any ideas of his own should be assumed to be an administration "adviser" is something that most of us in official Washington cannot understand. The fact is that the economists whose names are bandied about as "advisers" rarely see the President or have much to do with determining policies. One of those most prominently mentioned in all of our columns has spoken to the President only once in his life; another has seen the President twice in the past three years.

It would not be exaggeration to say that the so-called inner circle of economists has no more effect upon administration policies than any equal number of responsible businessmen, legislators, government officials or labor leaders who are constantly calling upon the President and seeking to advise him on matters of state.

The truth is that nine out of ten of the economists in Washington seek but one end. That is to make the present economic system work smoothly and efficiently and to the advantage of all of our people. One hears much about the recently enacted wage and hour bill and if one were to believe the statements current in many quarters, he could not help but conclude that here was one more attempt on the part of government to regiment industry. The fact is that behind the wage and hour law lies a single maxim which dominates administration policy: The welfare and profits of no private business shall interfere with the welfare of the nation as a whole.

For more than 150 years we and other nations have relied on the competitive system to furnish us with the essentials of life. We have assumed that if we are free to act on our own initiative those who can most effectively meet our needs all come out on top. In the race with economic supremacy we have assumed that the victory would go to the most efficient producer.

We know only too well that it is not necessarily those who produce most efficiently or those who render the greatest service to society who secure the lead in the race for economic returns. All too frequently the honors—profits—go to those who can take the greatest advantage of their fellow men. By cutting wages, compelling labor to work inhumanly long hours, many a producer has not only weathered economic storms but has actually profited from them. And he has usually done so at the expense of his competitor who has refused to stoop to similar tactics. In two many instances the ability to sweat one's labor has supplanted efficiency as the determinant of business success.

Competition in short, has failed to work in the way we have assumed it would. Instead of a well-ordered race with well-defined rules which enabled the best man to win, we had a chaotic system in which the employer with high standards has been forced by unscrupulous competitors to adopt policies detrimental to his workers, his industry, and society as a whole. The plane of business morality has too often been forced by the fact that the majority of business and industry. Many an employer has been obliged to yield to rules of business conduct he despises. He has been forced to live a dull existence. Despite indignation at the employment of children, long hours of labor, and low wages, he has been compelled to pursue such practices because of the pressure of competition from employers who lack a sense of social responsibility.

Employers with a social conscience are now assured by the wages and hours law that they will no longer be compelled to conform to the standards of competitors with blunted social sensibilities. The law does not curtail competitive action. It only determines the manner in which competition shall take place. It seeks to create a situation in which the ideals of the better rather than those of the worst employers shall prevail. It incorporates into law standards which, even though acceptable to the majority, could not be put into effect without governmental authority as long as a handful of men in any given industry refused to conform to them. It aims to establish by law a plane of competition far above that which could be maintained in the absence of government edict.

'Well, How Is It Working Out?'

Editor Register:

I want to reply to Mr. W. F. Rockwell's criticism of my reference July 17 to the Townsend pension plan and the General Welfare Act H.R.4199. I did not mention any names when I said "The discussion of the various pension plans is not overcharged with logic" and when Mr. Rockwell says "The General Welfare Act H.R.4199 now in the ways is NOT the outgrowth of the Townsend plan," I think he is putting himself in the class "Not overcharged with logic."

H.R.4199 was introduced in Congress February 2, 1937, at the request of Dr. Francis E. Townsend and under this title is recognized as the "Townsend Plan" by congressmen and the Townsend organization. I only know what I read in the papers and I find in the Townsend Weekly from cover to cover recognition of H.R.4199 as the Townsend plan and while I do not care to enter into a lengthy discussion of the question I must ask you for space to quote some of the reports and addresses brought before the third Townsend national convention so recently held in Los Angeles.

I quote from the "Convention Call": "To impress our representatives in Congress of the necessity of immediate passage of the General Welfare Act '4199' Again 'To reaffirm our faith in our organization, in ourselves and our bill—the General Welfare Act.' Again 'The one goal sought by all of us is enactment of the General Welfare Act.'"

Chairman Jeffery read a telegram from Congressman Martin F. Smith as follows: "We have made more progress in the Seventy-fifth Congress than ever before and faith is growing rapidly in behalf of H.R.4199 embodying the principles of the Townsend National Recovery Plan." Ward B. Long, Colorado representative of Townsend organization addressing the convention said, "In this pursuit of life, liberty and happiness, this H.R.4199 may be termed another national reconstruction bill. They are problems of ways and means and just as surely as you are a growing organization you are going to change and make improvements as you go along." Hon. J. Hardin Peterson, congressman from Florida, addressed Congress the last day it was in session as follows. "Mr. Speaker: I regret very much that the Seventy-fifth Congress is coming to a close without having acted upon H.R.4199 the General Welfare Act of 1938. I am making this statement hoping the members may read it and that they may join me in urging a hearing at the earliest part of the next session. Let's be active in securing the passage of H.R.4199." Hon. James C. Oliver, congressman from Maine spoke at the closing of Congress as follows. "Mr. Speaker: We should remain in session until we enact into law such measure as H.R.4199 and at the same time establish a ceiling and floor for maximum and minimum annual incomes." The following resolution was adopted at the convention. "Be it resolved that we register our protest against the un-American procedure that has kept the General Welfare Act of 1937 H.R.4199 pigeonholed by the

BUYING POWER FALLACY

By GUS W. DYER

Professor of Economics and Sociology, Vanderbilt University

Whatever may be said in criticism of the President for changing his policies from time to time, he has adhered to his chief policy from the beginning. This is that industrial prosperity is the result of keeping up buying power, by a system of distributing money as gifts to millions of wage earners. This policy is reflected in the recently enacted wage-hour bill. All money wage earners receive over and above the market value of their service is a gift, and the amount of this bonus must be assessed on consumers. But this forced giving to wage earners, according to the President, is the very source of industrial prosperity and general welfare.

Compulsory giving was the foundation of the NRA. With 14,000,000 wage earners out of work, the President gave the command to raise wages above the prosperity level. This, he said, would create new buying power for the millions, and this new general prosperity. The purpose of the President's minimum wage—short work law is to increase "buying power" by forcing wages up.

A few months ago, in answer to those who were concerned about our loss of foreign trade, the President said, practically, we don't need foreign trade. "Industry," says the President "can create on its very doorsteps the biggest and most permanent market it has ever had!" How? "A few more dollars a week (gifts) will almost over night make millions of our lowest paid workers actual buyers of billions of dollars of industrial and farm products"—(spending gift-money).

Incidentally, the national debt has increased between fifteen and twenty billion dollars since the President's policy of scattering huge sums of money to the four corners of the land as gifts was put in operation.

Now, with the same unemployment problem, and with still greater uncertainty, the President comes forward with the same old "cure-all remedy" and tells business to give away more money. "If we want to restore prosperity," says the President, "we must increase and not decrease that purchasing power"—wages. The President's policy is to increase wages by forcing wages up.

Now, with the same unemployment problem, and with still greater uncertainty, the President comes forward with the same old "cure-all remedy" and tells business to give away more money. "If we want to restore prosperity," says the President, "we must increase and not decrease that purchasing power"—wages. The President's policy is to increase wages by forcing wages up.

ident himself underscored "increase" and "decrease."

In substance his theory is, increasing wages, regardless of the losses to business, it causes, increases buying power, and this increased buying power will bring about prosperity. If this is a sound principle, wages should be increased five- or ten-fold it would seem. "Just add several dollars in gifts to the weekly wages of millions of wage earners, and this gift-money will so increase the general buying power," says the President, "that we will have the greatest and most permanent market this country has ever seen."

The buying power of any country at any time is a fixed quantity. It may be increased by producing more than is consumed, or it may be reduced by consuming more than is produced. When wage earners or any other group consume more than they produce, general buying power is reduced. The billions borrowed by the government for non-productive consumption purposes means an enormous reduction in general buying power.

Transferring money from one group to another doesn't increase buying power. When such money is used for non-productive consumption it reduces buying power instead of increasing it.

The depressed condition of business in this country is not due to a lack of buying power. We have a great abundance of buying power. The depressed condition is due to the fact that those who have buying power are afraid to exercise it. The source of this fear is not in business itself, but is due to the uncertainties created by the policies and attitudes of the Administration with reference to business, and the alarming continuous increase of the public debt. This fear and uncertainty drive business back to the necessity basis, and business on such a basis is depressed business.

Business cannot move forward to normal property over the wall of uncertainty that the Administration itself has built. As long as this wall is kept intact the only prosperity possible is "doped prosperity" and "doped prosperity" is a terrible national liability rather than an asset.

It is not buying power, but buying power in profitable productive action that brings prosperity in business. Such action is impossible over the obstruction of unusual fear and unusual uncertainty.

complete report of the recent convention.

I think it would be an unprecedented incident if a bill presented to Congress should pass without amending. H.R.4199 is subject to amendments when it gets out of the committee and the proposed amendments now pending may be changed. The General Welfare Act has been promoted by former associates of the Townsend organization who withdrew because of some differences in the management. I am persuaded that there is too much controversy between the different organizations and if I can say anything to harmonize and unify the various interests I will have achieved something toward the welfare of the

JOHNSON SAYS

BETHANY BEACH, Delaware.

This is only one side of famous Carter case in which one of the most brilliant officers in the army engineer corps was sent to the penitentiary, ruined and disgraced—nearly 40 years ago. A proper showing of the other side might make it look silly. But there has been a singular squelching of the other side. Yet, on Carter's version, the incident is a disgrace to the court-martial system and the otherwise unblemished record of the engineer corps.

Omerlin M. Carter is now a broken old man and has vainly devoted the latter part of his life in an effort to get a judicial review of his case. He can't get it because the civil courts have no authority to review the findings of a court-martial—no matter how tyrannical and arbitrary, they may be. The court-martial system is a separate judiciary, independent of the courts. It rarely is unjust but, subject only to presidential disapproval, it can be just as unfair as any Russian or German purging machine.

Forty years ago, Captain Omerlin M. Carter was one of the wonder-children of the army. He had a wealthy wife, which meant a large independent income. For his brilliant work he was jumped over the heads of seniors to the most desirable assignments. The engineers used to be a snooty lot anyway and Carter was a very old and curled Assyrian bull" of that aristocracy. His friend, the great Goethals, warned him: "You had better join me and seek some hole to hide in when the change in the administration of the engineer department takes place." Carter was popular only with himself.

He sailed to Europe on some highly perfumed mission and a successor was sent to Savannah "to get" him. The only charge on which the court-martial convicted Carter was "embezzlement," on the ground that he had let a contractor use different material than the specifications called for. It was proved to be ridiculous to the point of absurdity and some leading lawyers who officially examined the record for President McKinley, and several courts have found, that there was no evidence at all to sustain the verdict. That is hardly contested by anybody.

That isn't the point. The point is that, after the President had referred the case for advice to Wayne McVeigh and Judge Edmonds and they had reported no evidence of guilt, but evidence wholly incompatible with guilt, the attorney general recommended approval of the sentence on the ground that a secret special investigation had convinced him that Carter had received a "kick-back" from the contractor—a wholly new charge, not made or tried before the court and of which there was no evidence in the record. On that advice the conviction was approved and Carter went to the pen.

There later appeared suspicious circumstances about other contractors and the case is obscured by other civil suits. Stripped of all these, however, what you have here is a man ruined and imprisoned on charges never tried, in respect of which his constitutional rights to confront and cross-examine his accusers were denied, and which he has no possible chance of a judicial review of his unconstitutional railroad. It smells of bureaucratic tyranny, insolence and official concealment of a gross abuse.

Perhaps there is some sufficient answer to all this. If there is it ought to be made and, if there is not, it is up to the secretary of war to correct this apparent error on the record of the judge advocate general's department and that of the corps of engineers.

Carter may be as guilty as hell on other charges, but every Bill Spivens should protest this practice of trying a man on one charge and convicting and punishing him on another. If it gets to be a habit, Spivens might be its next victim.

Pensioners. We must, as individuals, surrender some of our personal liberties and constitutional rights when it becomes necessary to act for the promotion of the general welfare of the human family. Both Townsend and General Welfare groups are sponsoring the same bill H.R.4199 and if they will only concentrate upon the best ideas of both organizations, then will come a General Welfare act for the welfare of all.

DIFFICULTY IN JUDGING EMPLOYEES

The framers of the Wagner Labor law failed to recognize the difficulty in measuring the value of the services of an employee.

The successful employer well knows that one of his most difficult tasks is judging whether the worker should be retained. Even if the employer has made a life study of his subject he often feels his incompetence to make wise decisions as to the selecting and retaining of his help.

In spite of the difficulty employers have with long experience in their work and association with their men the Wagner Act has this complicated question decided in a few hours by an inexperienced political appointee by hearing statements made by interested parties.

The judge making the decision does not even need to go into the truthfulness or ability of those testifying. And judging from the nature of these decisions they are not made with the idea of increasing production but mainly to retain the greatest number of votes at political elections for those making appointments of the judges deciding whether or not an employee can be discharged.

And yet we wonder why men with foresight are not attempting to save and employ labor and why one man out of four is out of a job.

The pointing out of inconsistencies in this column will be appreciated.

Behind The Scenes In Washington

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Register Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Republican Chairman John Hamilton, in one of the latest publicity blasts from party headquarters, may have embellished the setting for one of Mr. Roosevelt's spectacular plays for popularity during the fall campaigns.

Hamilton has cracked out with the charge that G-Man Leon G. Turrus had precedent for selling for newspaper syndication the story of his work in uncovering espionage in the U. S., the precedent being set by Mr. Roosevelt himself. Recalling that the President had sold his commentaries on press conferences and state papers for magazine and newspaper publication, the chairman pointed out that White House Secretary Steve Early in March had said the net proceeds—reportedly close to $100,000—would be given by Roosevelt for "a useful public purpose under government direction."

"Nothing more has been heard either from Mr. Early or the President regarding this matter," comments Hamilton.

JOHN BEHIND THE 8-BALL?

Well, the White House people say the Early announcement still stands and that Roosevelt isn't accustomed to being stampeded into action by Mr. Hamilton. One of these days, it appears, the "worthy purpose" will be announced with due ballyhoo, the country will again be reminded of the Great White Father's warm loving heart—and Mr. Hamilton, who has contributed to the buildup by inferring publicly that F. D. R. was eating the mazzuma, will be accused of being an old sour-puss.

Of course if the President doesn't come through as per promise, Mr. Hamilton and others will be entitled to start casting asparagus.

Other recent items of official G. O. P. publicity have included announcement that Hamilton would lay a wreath on the tomb of Thomas Jefferson, father of the Democratic party, and a statement blaming the New Deal for the folding up of Ringling-Barnum and Bailey's circus, whose employees refused to accept a 25 per cent wage cut.

SELLING A STOVE

New Dealers working on the monopoly investigation were impressed by a business incident told them by Don Nelson, executive vice president of Sears Roebuck, who sat in on several of the recent secret conferences between big business men and brain trusters.

The company had been selling a certain stove for $59 and sales had gone way down. Modifying the stove's design and making certain arrangements with companies supplying the materials and with labor unions, the company got down to a price of $39.95 for practically the same stove. Orders have been coming in too fast to be filed.

Monopoly investigators taking this is the sort of thing they like to hear—which may be a tip-off on their frame of mind as they start investigating. They have heard somewhat similar reports of greatly accelerated business after price-cutting from Montgomery Ward.

The Nation's Press

THE THIRD TERM

With no word recently from Mr. Roosevelt on the subject of a third term, it is natural for both his opponents in the Democratic party and his supporters in the Democratic Front party to think that he will be willing to take the nomination again in 1940. He is now campaigning for control of the next congress, seeking to reelect senators who will follow his leadership without question and to defeat independent Democratic members who have had their own convictions and have opposed him when they thought he was wrong.

If Mr. Roosevelt were pressed to say what his intentions or ambitions were, it probably would be said for him, if he didn't say it for himself, that he was not called upon to make any statement at this time. It would be explained for him, if not by him, that a definite announcement he would not be a candidate in 1940 would deprive him of too much influence.

If he wrote himself out of the nomination the Democratic politicians would be looking around for his successor and they would pay less attention to him as the party chief. He would still further lose control of congress and steam would escape from his proposals. It is his ambition to leave a historic and lasting imprint of ideas on the social and economic plan of the United States. He would like to be known as the creator of New America.

Nothing has worked out satisfactorily in the sixth year of the revolution and people who regard the Rooseveltian program as one of more adventures, gladly trifling with national resources and forces, cannot expect anything beneficial to result in the next two years except as a triumph of private enterprise over governmental obstruction. If the remainder of the second term follows the line taken thus far Mr. Roosevelt will be confronted with the failure of two four-year plans and that may be the excuse for not quitting but insisting upon return to office.

There never was a time before when the two term tradition seemed to have so much justification. To reverse it now would be to concede a principle of indispensability inconsistent with the theories of free government. A dictator is a man who says that the people must have him because he alone can manage their public affairs.—Chicago Tribune.

Grand Rapids Press: "It appears to be dawning upon the American people that this act is not what it was supposed to be and that until it is reformed it will continue a statute contrary to the American conception of fair play and justice."
